MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A secret anti-Castro organization called Alpha said Tuesday it made a hit-and-run attack on three freighters off Cuba's northern coast.

Members in Miami said five members of the group, which had headquarters in Puerto Rico, made the raid.

A communique signed "Alpha 66, Puerto Rico," and made available here, said "Cuban patriots" at dawn Monday attacked the Cuban vessels San Pascual and San Blas, and a British freighter.

The operation was "a naval attack on Cape Francès, at the port of Caibarien," the communique said. It lasted 50 minutes, the information added.

Helicopters of the Castro regime pursued the Cubans for 40 miles on the high seas, the chase culminating in a naval battle in which the Communists quickly withdrew," the communique added.

HAVANA (AP)—The Castro regime said Tuesday that a "pirate vessel" entered a harbor in north-central Cuba early Monday and pumped more than 60 shots into a British freighter and a Cuban ship. No casualties were reported.

Havana radio blamed the attack on "criminals armed and paid by the United States."

Havana radio charged the marauder came from the United States and suggested the firing on the British freighter identified as the Thetis.

The U.S. state department in Washington has asked its ambassadors in Western capitals to try to persuade NATO allies to keep their shipping away from Cuba.

British Pilot Captured By Russians

EAST BERLIN (Reuters)—East German police said Tuesday night that Soviet fighters had forced a British pilot to land at a Soviet military field near Leipzig Sunday.

Police said the pilot, Peter Clifford, was forced down at the Altenburg Airfield and was still in Russian hands.

Election Machinery Ready in October

(OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's electoral machinery will be ready after Oct. 1 to run off another federal general election in the minimum possible time.

Chief Electoral Officer Nelson Astorgue will start next week to ship some 150 tons of supplies to returning officers across the country in the last stage of his office's preparedness program.

Oct. 1 has been set as the target date for completion of the shipment.

Bond Conversion

Letters Flood Bennett

By TERRY HAMMOND

An astonished Premier Bennett told the Colonist yesterday the finance department has had to employ extra staff to handle a flood of parity bond conversion applications from B.C. investors.

The government offered to exchange current 3½ per cent parity bonds for PGE 5½ per cent parities redeemable Sept. 15 in order to meet the demands of investors who failed to convert before the most recent over-subscribed issue.

Investors who wanted to convert were urged in government advertisements to write direct to B.C.'s deputy finance minister C. S. Bryson. "I've got hundreds of letters—not a few letters, hundreds of letters," said an incredulous premier.

"I've had to get extra staff to handle them."

He said in spite of the flood of requests "we hope to be able to look after them."

"I had no idea so many people had failed to convert. The government is anxious to meet the requests because, said the premier, "these are people who had that great confidence at the very beginning."

The bonds maturing Sept. 15 were the original B.C. parity issue of three years ago.

"There was a lot of skepticism in the Financial Post and all over the world. They said it couldn't be done," Mr. Bennett recalled.

Chicago Adventurer Settlers Aiming North Face Cold, Hard Facts

OTTAWA (CP)—A 31-year-old Chicago adventurer is going to be told that forming a settlement in the Canadian north will be no piece of cake.

Robert H. Van Schoick, a former florist, said in Chicago last week that he is assembling a party which will embark next spring on a pioneering venture in the Northwest Territories.

His plan is to establish a self-supporting community of from 20 to 50 persons in either the Mackenzie or Keewatin districts. He hopes that the group will be the nucleus of waves of settlers into the area.

Officials of the northern affairs and immigration departments here do not dismiss the plan, but wonder whether the author appreciates the hardships involved.

One official said the would-be settler has been asked to come to Ottawa to get "some cold hard facts about life in the Canadian north." He said the government wanted assurance that members of the party had the knowledge and equipment to cope with northern problems.

Tories Join Race

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C. (CP)—Eric Greenwood, 35, a Port Moody engineer, was nominated by the Progressive Conservative party Tuesday night to contest the Oct. 22 federal by-election in Burnaby-Coquitlam.

All four major parties now have nominated candidates for the by-election, made necessary by the resignation of member-elect Erhart Regehr to give New Democratic Party leader J. C. Douglas another chance for a Commons seat.

Mr. Greenwood's was the only name put before about 100 persons attending the Conservative constituency meeting.

Mr. Greenwood told them NDP members thought Burnaby-Coquitlam would be a "safe" seat for Mr. Douglas, but "we're going to make it a hot seat for this rejected leader."

Mr. Greenwood said the first phase of election preparation was the revision by returning officers of the polling division arrangements for the 263 federal constituencies, which will be virtually completed by next weekend.

The general order for this revision went out in early July less than a month after the June 18 general election.

These are normal preparations for the chief electoral officer, who needs a minimum of 30 days to conduct a general election.

Sons Threaten Hunger Strike

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP)—Unwanted and almost penniless, migrating Sons of Freedom Doukhobors threatened to go on a hunger strike Tuesday.

The Freehomites are running out of money because they haven't received their September social welfare cheques.

"If it keeps up I guess we'll have to go on a hunger strike," said Big Fanny Storgoff, organizer of the sect's plan to settle near a Freedomsite prison in the Fraser Valley.

Well-to-do officials at Victoria and their cheques are being withheld because they are on the move.

UP TO STANDARD

Unwanted in Grand Forks and shunned by Agassiz and Vancouver, the Freedomsites were faced with legal action when authorities called on health officials to inspect sanitation facilities at the camp.

But Inspector Len Heibert said the three outposts used by the 800 Freedomsites were up to standard.

At Agassiz, about 300 miles west of here, municipal officials rebuffed a request for an advance party of Freedomsites for land for the sect.

$85,000,000 Vast Expansion Cominco Plan

TRAIL (CP)—Plans for an $85,000,000 industrial expansion by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. Ltd. were disclosed at a National Energy Board hearing here Tuesday.

President R. G. Anderson of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company, a wholly-owned Cominco subsidiary, said he had been shown plans contemplating $85,000,000 in capital expenditure by the parent company in the six years 1963 to 1968.

Mr. Anderson was speaking in favor of Cominco's application for a licence to engage in an exchange of power with the Bonneville Power Administration, major power producer and distributor in the U.S. Pacific Northwest.

DETAILS HERE

The $85,000,000 figure, he said, was exclusive of capital expenditure proposed for power plants and transmission lines.

Cominco seeks a 20-year licence to borrow power from BPA at times when the flow of the Pend d'Oreille River is insufficient for Cominco's generators at Waneta to operate at capacity. The company would return an equal amount of power to BPA at other times of the year.

KIMBERLEY PLAN

The firm-up power would be used to expand Cominco's iron, steel and fertilizer operations at Kimberley.

Mr. Anderson said the board should also take into account Cominco's development of Trail Point, a major ore producer in the Northwest Territories, and a major zinc plant extension in Trail.

On Moon
In '65
Red Goal

BEIGRADE (Reuters)—Ma Ghorman Tivv, the Soviet communist, was quoted Tuesday night as saying the Soviet Union planned a flight to the moon in 1965.

"But do not forget, that is the orientation year," he added in an interview in Wednesday's edition of Pravda, the official government newspaper.

TIME EXTENDED

Asked if this meant the flight could be earlier or later, Tivv replied:

"If some problem arises and a solution is not found immediately, the time is extended."

Tivv arrived here Tuesday on a nine-day visit.

"If the Americans consider that they will be the first to have nothing against it," he said.

Indonesians Sent Home

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—Thirty Indonesian guerrillas who were dropped on West New Guinea and later captured by Dutch forces there have been returned to Indonesia.

RCAF Aids Reds

OTTAWA (CP)—Russian aircraft flying in and from Cuba over Canadian territory are being supplied with RCAF technicians, on RCAF airplanes, said Tuesday night.

The spokesman said this is a usual courtesy applied to countries who do not have any air agreements with Canada under the International Civil Aviation Organization. Russia is one. (See also Page 3.)

THE FINAL STEP

In cases where Russian aircraft fly via Britain and Newfoundland to Cuba, the Russian-speaking RCAF personnel board the aircraft at Prestwick, Scotland. This is the final step before the planes hit Canadian territory. The Canadians go all the way with the aircraft and return to Prestwick.

The spokesman said RCAF crews made one trip with a Russian plane in August and two in July. He said it was not known here what the aircraft carried.

Spell Out Alternatives, John D Told

By ALAN HARTLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Britain is poised at, undisturbed on her drive into Europe, but the Commonwealth family's tight defensive formation forebodes a desperate position.

Pointed speeches by Canada, Pakistan, New Zealand, Australia and India, following in rapid succession on the second day of the conference of prime ministers, suggest that Britain's stale nations are as reluctant as ever to see her cross the channel.

All are speaking circum-spectly. The tone is milder but the case remains substantially the same.

In resuming the United Kingdom of Independent States about the European community made three years ago by British leaders, Prime Minister DeLoach has said they have used a technique as embarrassing as the more forthright criticism expressed by Canadian spokesmen at the Commonwealth meeting in Ghana a year ago.

While it is unlikely to display much enthusiasm for DeLoach's cagey reference about "alternatives" to British membership in the European Community, it is understood the prime minister aims to keep them alternatives in a package to address the Commonwealth conference, which he produced there.

The long-winded speech, however, and with strings attached, one British source commented, "Why doesn't he put them in the folder? After all, he's had plenty of time."

In a similar vein, DeLoach has declined to give the student club in any new Canadian proposals. It is understood he may hold them in reserve for discussion by the Canadian Parliament after the return.

Before the Edinburgh House talks opened, there was a disposition in some sophisticated circles to write the conference off as a sham fight with an inevitable conclusion.

It was agreed, and setting the Commonwealth meeting may say, with little any different. Much of the opposition to British entry has come from Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Pay Back to November

Chain Stores Settle Long Wage Dispute

A 10-month contract dispute between employees and three major supermarket chains in B.C. was settled yesterday when the firms accepted conciliation board recommendations.

Some 75 employees of about 18 stores in Greater Victoria were affected by the agreement, approved by Shop Easy, Super Valu and Safeway. About 500 employees on the lower mainland will also benefit.

JUST RECEIVED

George Johnston of Vancouver, secretary-manager of the Amalgamated Meatcutters Union, Local 212, covering all of B.C., told the Colonist by telephone yesterday word had just been received from the department of labor that the stores had accepted the conciliation board report which the union approved earlier.

Main issue holding up agreement was an employer-paid portable pension scheme sought by the union, he said.

ONE WAS WILLING

"The board recommended that the employees participate in the plan and contribute 10 cents an hour per employee to the plan. Safeway had already indicated a willingness to participate in such a plan," said Mr. Johnston.

"In addition, the board recommended a 15-cent-an-hour wage increase and a fourth week of paid vacation after 20 years in 1962 and a fourth week after 15 years in 1963."

NOT YET SIGNED

The new 30-month contract, which has not yet been signed, will run from Nov. 1, 1961, when current contract negotiations started. It will expire May 1, 1964.

Journeymen and head meatcutters will get 10 cents an hour retroactive to November, 1961, and top-rate women workers will get 12½ cents retroactive to the same date. The balance of classifications will get five cents per hour retroactive pay.

MORE NEXT APRIL

An across-the-board increase of five cents will be given in April, 1963. The conciliation board recommended the pension contribution start in November this year.

Plaza Over Hurdle

Ald. A. W. Toone, chairman of city council's urban renewal committee, said yesterday a new service station going up at Flagard and Government won't intrude on planning of Centennial Square civic plaza.

He and other City Hall officials had some misgivings when a building permit was issued for the gas station across the street from both the civic plaza and the proposed Chinatown mall.

WON'T JAR

After discussing the matter with builders of the service station, Ald. Toone declared himself satisfied it won't provide a jarring note in the midst of urban renewal projects planned for the area.

But there is still a snag, said Ald. Toone, because the brick walls of surrounding buildings loom over the service station site to a height of two storeys and will prove an eyesore.

"We'll have to consider what can be done to remedy this in the near future," said Ald. Toone.

Municipalities

Soot Battle B.C. Topic

Mayor R. B. Wilson said yesterday provincial standards to set the level of air pollution would assist Victoria in its battle against the smoke nuisance.

He made the comment just before leaving to attend the annual convention of the Union of B.C. Municipalities in Kamloops tomorrow through Friday.

Support by city delegates of a resolution to be brought before the UBCM urging the provincial government to set air pollution standards would therefore be "most helpful," the mayor said.

REASON WHY

New Westminster which, like Victoria, has recently had its smoke bylaw thrown out by the courts said the necessary provincial legislation should be enacted to safeguard "the well-being of all citizens" in B.C.

The resolution asks the UBCM to petition for regulations setting standards of air pollution and giving the government authority to order firms and individuals to cut down on emission of heavy smoke.

SOUND EXTENSION

City hall officials have indicated the suggested provincial smoke regulations would be what a spokesman termed "a sound extension of existing municipal powers."

However, Reeve Stanley Murphy, who will head the Saanich delegation to the UBCM, was reluctant to commit himself on provincial smoke regulations.

"I'd rather not comment at this time," he said shortly before departure.

UNABLE TO GO

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, who has spearheaded the city's attack against smoke offenders, is unable to attend the Kamloops convention.

He returned early Monday from a gruelling five-day bus tour of Alberta cities to attract winter visitors to Victoria. The mayor agreed to his withdrawal.

In all, four key councilmen are unable to make the trip, necessitating creation of city manager C. C. Wyatt and city solicitor T. P. O'Grady as voting delegates in order to give Victoria its full strength of six.

Those unable to attend are Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell, Ald. Austin Curtis, Ald. Michael Griffin and Ald. Edgelow.

Settled In Court

Two Victoria men who pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance by street fighting Monday had their differences settled in police court yesterday morning.

John D. Crawford was fined $50 and Wilfred G. White was fined $35. Both were of no fixed address.

Police said a crowd of 35 to 40 persons gathered to watch the antagonists "roll on the sidewalk."

Dear Dr. Molner: Are Vitamin C and ascorbic acid identical in citrus fruits? Does it make any difference what time of day they are eaten? With meals or between meals?—H.L.A.

Ascorbic acid is the chemical name for Vitamin C. They mean exactly the same thing. It doesn't matter what time of day you get it, but ample Vitamin C should be taken, in the form of citrus fruit, or juice, or tomato juice, or other form, daily, since a lack of it can develop more quickly than any other vitamin shortage.

NOTE TO EM: Girls with dark hair are, naturally, more aware of unwanted hair growth, because it shows up more. Shaving it off is a perfectly good way of getting rid of it—and it does not make the growth heavier. Bleaching with hydrogen peroxide is a method of making it less obvious.

Your Good Health

Emotional Ills Come Slowly That's Why Treatment Late

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: About six months ago I experienced a severe mental shock. Since then I have lost a great deal of weight. I am experiencing periods of shallow depression and insomnia. Everything I do is a struggle. My friends say I am on the verge of a nervous breakdown. Can this be true?—Mrs. T.M.W.

Nervous breakdown is a term that means whatever the user wants it to mean. I would say that a profound psychological disturbance is a better term, although it's not very definite, either.

Nervous breakdown seems to imply a sudden, specific collapse. Yet this hardly ever happens. Psychological or emotional disturbances almost invariably creep up gradually.

DEVELOP SLOWLY

These troubles, like catarrhs, or arthritis, or emphysema or obesity, develop so subtly that you rarely can see any particular time when they "begin."

That is why as a rule they are treated later than they might be.

Your perceptive letter indicates clearly enough that some sort of emotional upset is at work. How much the severe mental shock had to do with it is something we needn't bother to guess about. The point is that you are distinctly unhappy now.

Your friends may well be suggesting mental breakdown just as a means of persuading you to do something about your troubles. It is not respectable that some sudden collapse or "breakdown" is imminent because, as I said, that isn't the way these problems arise.

CORRECT ANSWER

In this instance, one easy (and correct) answer is, "See a psychiatrist. The sooner he starts, the sooner you'll begin to improve."

However, there aren't as many psychiatrists as we need.

Ring of Russian Fire Protects Havana

By GEORGE ARFIELD

HAVANA (AP)—A veritable ring of fire now surrounds Havana following the current bolstering of Cuban defences prompted by what government officials term "Yankee aggressive tactics."

East of Havana, across the entrance to the bay, a rolling meadow separating the naval hospital from La Cabana fortress bristles with anti-aircraft artillery. Similar batteries are placed on nearby Morro Castle have been reinforced with radar-aiming devices.

Driving west, along the seaside Malecon Drive, one sees young gunners manning cannon on the front lawn of the Hotel Nacional.

To the south, behind the residential Cubanacán district, anti-aircraft batteries are manned around the clock, only minutes away from parking lots crammed with newly-arrived Russian jeeps and trucks.

West of Havana, at the Barlovento yacht marina, long-barrelled cannon mounted on wheels point seaward. Detection equipment is nearby. This battery is manned by Cuban servicemen armed with Czech guns keep a sharp lookout.

Farther west lies Mariel, a picture-postcard port, nestled deep inside a palm-fringed bay. Here an entire pier has been curtained off by a 10-foot, concrete block wall, topped with barbed wire. Watchtowers rise above the four corners.

Beyond the walled-off area, some 20 young Russians splashed in the bay. They waved to passing cars.

Farther down the main highway, a picturesque area dubbed Cayo (Key) Lenin is ringed by a wire fence. Cuban servicemen armed with Czech guns keep a sharp lookout.

Correspondents driving along Cuba's northwestern coast Sunday counted at least 50 unmarked, Soviet-made trucks driving in convoys. At the wheel of each vehicle sat a young Russian, in civilian clothing.

Two convoys, coming from the harbor of Bahia Honda, were led by Cuban police on motorcycles. The trucks were similar to those seen at Camp Torrens, a former boys' reformatory, where scores of young Russians are billeted, near a considerable number of communications vehicles.

Two young Cuban soldiers said "some of the Russians speak some Spanish." They asserted new artillery equipment recently brought to Cuba "is completely different from what we had before." Otherwise they remained tight-lipped, hugging sub-machine-guns close to their chests.

In Havana, militiamen and women stood guard at the entrance of most large buildings armed with compact Czech burp guns.

Posters on an office bulletin board warn all Yankees: "If they come, they stay."

Another poster says: "If the Yankees can't live 90 miles away from a Socialist country, let them move."

Death Spells End To Soblen Fight

LONDON (CP)—Dr. Robert A. Soblen's grim tug-of-war with the forces of U.S. justice ended Tuesday with his death, apparently from a brain hemorrhage.

The 61-year-old New York psychiatrist who spied for the Soviet Union escaped the prospect of a life term in an American prison and life itself in a British hospital this morning. He had been unconscious since a massive dose of sleeping potion he gulped secretly knocked him out in an ambulance carrying him from Brixton Prison to a New York-bound airliner last Thursday.

The lymphatic leukemia he had claimed for months was killing him appeared to have been but a minor factor in his death.

At his Hillingdon "Hospital bedside when he died was his wife, Dina, also a psychiatrist, who arrived from New York last Friday. A hospital spokesman said she was admitted afterwards for treatment of shock.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Jack Soblen, brother of convicted Soviet spy Robert Soblen, was released Aug. 31 from a federal prison, the justice department said yesterday.

Soblen had served five years of a seven-year term for conspiring to steal U.S. defence secrets.

Dead Killer Sparks Bid for Fingerprints

HAMILTON (UPI)—Legislation to require all persons to be fingerprinted was suggested last night to a coroner's jury probing the death of reclusive killer Bruce Griffett and his victims.

Griffett committed suicide with a shotgun Aug. 29, seconds after slaying Const. David Gregory. The previous day he had bludgeoned his mother, Martha, and a neighbor, Milton Nelson, to death with a hammer.

High-Altitude Test Ban Asked

UNITED NATIONS (Reuters)—The Soviet Union called Monday for an international ban on high-altitude nuclear tests, charging that a radioactive belt created by the July 9 United States Pacific blast had interrupted outer space research.

Russian Warning:

Nuclear War Sure If U.S. Raids Cuba

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union promised again Tuesday to defend Cuba with rockets and warned the United States an armed attack on the Marxist outpost in the Caribbean would plunge the world into a nuclear war.

The tough Kremlin statement denounced as provocative President Kennedy's request to the United States Congress for authority to call up 150,000 reservists if needed and linked the move with preparations "for aggression against Cuba and other peace-loving states."

"Such a step by the U.S. government cannot be assessed otherwise than a screen for aggressive plans and intentions," said the statement.

The Russians denied they were building a military base in Cuba, and declared they have such powerful rockets to carry nuclear warheads that "there is no need to search for sites for them beyond the boundaries of the Soviet Union."

The 4,000-word statement raised again calls for a German peace treaty and complete world disarmament on Moscow terms.

In Washington, State Secretary Dean Rusk said the U.S. was not frightened by the Soviet warning. Rusk told reporters: "We are not nervous or afraid. We'll proceed as we find it necessary."

The Kremlin statement, as issued by Tass, expressed willingness to wait until after the U.S. congressional elections in November before resuming talks on the Berlin crisis.

Udall Tells Canada

We Must Co-operate To Win Hydro Race

WASHINGTON (CP)—U.S. Interior Secretary Udall said Tuesday the United States and Canada must intensify their co-operation in hydro power development if the Soviet power challenge is to be met.

Udall, who recently conferred with Soviet Premier Khrushchev and toured Russian power projects, said the Soviet leader challenged the U.S. to an emergency race. Udall accepted the challenge.

The U.S. currently has about three times the electrical production capacity of Russia but the Russians are making vast strides and if the U.S. is to remain ahead, development must be intensified, Udall told a press conference.

A "factor" in maintaining leadership is co-operation with Canada in joint power development just as Russia is co-operating with Communist China in harnessing of boundary waters.

"If we are going to develop our joint resources fully, we have to work together," Udall said, referring to Canada.

Later he told a reporter he had particular reference to the Columbia River project, on which "we need to move ahead." The U.S. has ratified joint development of this West Coast project and the U.S. government is hoping it will be ratified in the new Canadian Parliament opening Sept. 27.

Secrecy Shrouds Spy Plane Case

PEKING (Reuters)—The shooting down of a Nationalist Chinese U-2 spy plane Sunday was still front-page news in Communist China Tuesday, but official secrecy still surrounded the details.

The fate of the Nationalist Chinese pilot was still unknown, as well as how the plane was brought down, although a leading Communist Chinese official told East European Communists that "unconventional means" were used.

All Peking newspapers Tuesday published Defence Minister Ling Piao's commendation of the air force unit which shot down the plane.

All newspapers also carried comments by the state department in Washington, interpreting them as an admission that "the United States collects military intelligence on China" with U-2 planes "supplied to Chiang Kai-shek in Formosa."

In a one sentence statement, the state department said the Lockheed Company and the Nationalist Chinese government had entered into a contract for the direct sale of two U-2 planes and an export licence had been issued for them.

Rum Saved Victim Of Bush Accident

VANCOUVER (CP) — A bottle of rum helped dull the pain for Mrs. Peggy Mathews while she lay all night with a broken hip in desolate bushland.

"I don't know what I would have done without that rum," Mrs. Mathews said in hospital. Her ordeal started during a family camping trip by horseback in the Bella Coola country. It ended with a mercy flight to hospital where she is in satisfactory condition.

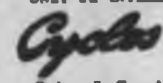

Mrs. Mathews, 45, her husband Burt, of Bella Coola, and their daughter and son-in-law, Jean and Brian Christensen of Enderby, set out Friday.

Saturday afternoon, her horse, Blacky, reared up near a bees' nest and stumbled, falling on top of Mrs. Mathews.

"My leg was twisted right around," she said.

First Canadian Satellite Will Live in Deadly Belt

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canada's first space satellite, to be launched later this month, may throw new light on the destructive powers of the Van Allen radiation belt, intensified by a controversial U.S. hydrogen bomb shot last July.

Church Goal: Vigor

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — The United Church of Canada, a denominational youngster 37 years old, is looking for a fountain of youth.

The 20th general council of the church, which opens a 10-day assembly here today, seems intent on rejuvenation through the reports and recommendations for action prepared by more than 50 boards, departments, standing committees and special commissions.

"Renewal of the church" is the theme of a series of special evening addresses to the council. The idea echoes through a schedule of reports and resolutions that fill a bulky council program of 790 pages.

The rejuvenation theme is likely to find its first expression in action at the election Wednesday night of a moderator. Flery Dr. James Mutchmor, 70, is favored.

Nova Scotia Byelections

HALIFAX (CP) — Party standings in the Nova Scotia legislature remain unchanged as a result of two close byelections Tuesday.

The Progressive Conservatives held Hants East for the government by a narrow margin. The Liberal opposition squeaked through to retain an Inverness seat they have held for 34 years.

Conservative J. Albert Eitinger, a 43-year-old undertaker, defeated Liberal Gerald A. Regan, a 34-year-old lawyer, in Hants East by the unofficial majority of 77 votes.

William N. MacLean, 54, a service station operator, held Inverness for the Liberals by 70 votes over Conservative Allan Davis, 43, a hotel proprietor.

Construction Worker Dies Under Girder

VANCOUVER (CP) — Elder Norris Plumb, 50, was crushed to death under a steel girder at a steel plant in nearby Burnaby Tuesday.

Police said Plumb was standing on the beam when a chain swinging from a crane knocked out wooden supports.

Two construction workers were killed here Monday when a crane cable snapped and they fell 40 feet.

Market Answer?

John D Hints NATO Cut

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker presented his government's arguments Tuesday that Canada should get a better trade deal before Britain joins Europe's Common Market.

Leading off the "Commonwealth leaders' replies to the British case for entering the European Economic Community, the Canadian prime minister put some searching questions in the apparent hope that the British will give the idea a long second thought.

Top Pat

LENS WILLING

One possibility raised by Diefenbaker: That North America might be less willing to share in European defence if Britain and her partners in the seven-nation European Free Trade Area join the EEC six in a major continental bloc.

Diefenbaker told Britain the Canadian government considers inadequate the trade assurances obtained so far by Britain in European negotiations. He urged Britain to press for better terms.

FORWARD LATER

It was understood Diefenbaker is prepared to put forward Canada's proposals here later if the prime minister generally want to discuss alternative trade plans.

Sir Alexander Bustamante, prime minister of Jamaica, as he left Tuesday's meeting, told reporters:

"Whatever anyone says, Britain is going to join (the Common Market). There is no need for a multiplicity of words. They are bound to join, whatever we say."

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John said Tuesday night the ecumenical council of the Roman Catholic Church will seek "to cure and heal the wounds of the two conflicts (world wars) which have profoundly changed the face of all countries."

Island 'Gets Nothing' To Help Alcoholic

The Vancouver Island branch of the Alcoholism Foundation of British Columbia has a tough row to hoe, according to president James Audain.

"The government is sympathetic, but let's have some action," he said yesterday, referring to government grants to carry on the work of the foundation.

GET NOTHING

Vancouver gets about $120,000 a year, Mr. Audain pointed out, while Victoria and Vancouver Island get nothing.

"We've been working as a small voluntary organization here," he said, "about 20 members at $2 a head. For six or seven years we have worked on voluntary funds. We have no paid workers whatsoever."

Mr. Audain has had meetings from time to time with Attorney-General R. Bonner and Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace, but so far he has no firm commitment of financial help.

Aims of the foundation are more hospital facilities for alcoholics and the removal of the stigma of alcoholism.

"RIDICULOUS"

Alcoholics are sick people, he said, victims of a disease calling for medical, psychiatric and social help. The number of hospital beds, clinics and personnel available for dealing with this vast public health problem is ridiculously small.

Well-known Victoria marine surveyor Norman Turner has been appointed the department of transport's official tonnage surveyor for the Port of Victoria and Vancouver Island.

Mr. Turner spent 20 years as marine superintendent for Island Tug and Barge prior to accepting his new appointment.

He succeeds R. E. Webb, who is retiring.

Schools Ask Parity Cut For Power

A 10 per cent discount in power bills, enjoyed for many years by the Greater Victoria school board, now is being sought by the Vancouver school board.

A spokesman in Vancouver yesterday said the board wants the cut in their annual $400,000 power bill "right away," without waiting for a survey of school power costs scheduled by the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority.

The board has been trying since last March to get a rate cut.

UNDER REVIEW

Monday it received a new letter from the authority's chairman, Dr. Gordon Shrum, which said the matter is under review.

The chairman said there was a wide variation in school power costs in various districts and he was hopeful some uniformity could be introduced.

He suggested he would have something concrete to propose "within the next few months," but trustees said the next few months is too long.

It was disconcerting to see in a Winnipeg press report the heading "City Judge Urges New Type of Bomb," but how heartening to find that this bomb is to be a bomb of fraternity, understanding and tolerance, with its destination the heart of man.

How all is clarified when stated so succinctly: simply choose either the constructive bomb, which will lead to the desired aim of making the world neighborhood — as the world has now become — into a world brotherhood, or choose the destructive bomb which can lead to annihilation.

In organized bodies using this bomb there is the Voice of Women movement, now gaining such strength that the advocates of the lethal bomb have resorted to the usual smear tactics but, without success.

Other organized bodies so armed are the Little Colonel Plan, The Peace Corps, Operation Crossroads. And so, the ordinary people are definitely on the move in the right direction and gaining such momentum that hindering such will be impossible.

Gardens and Slums

It is said that the "garden apartment project" has been stalled by persons who fear future slums. Recently a promise of the same kind of future was predicted for the high-rise apartments.

In James Bay the garden apartments appeared as an answer in housing to people with children.

It offered a dis-ice close in good transportation schools, shopping centre, the beauty of the shore line, flowers, park and the lovely old architecture to remind us of its usefulness as a part of Victoria in the past 100 years.

Too much thought about the beauty of Victoria, which it already has to offer is

MY BLIND SERVANT Isaiah 42:18-20

All students of the Scriptures know that God formed of the descendants of the twelve sons of Jacob the nation known as Israel, and of them He said, "You only have I known (or recognized) of all the families of the earth" (Amos 3:2). "But thou, Israel, art my servant, Jacob whom I have chosen, the seed of Abraham my friend" (Isaiah 41:8). "I am the Lord, your Holy One, the Creator of Israel, your King" (Isa. 43:35). With that nation He made a covenant, saying, "Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine. . . And all the people answered together, and said, All that the Lord hath spoken we will do" (Ex. 19:5, 8).

In the course of time the nation became divided into two nations — Judah, which comprised the two tribes of Judah and Benjamin; and Israel, or Ephraim, which comprised the other ten tribes, and God declared the division was of Him (1st Kings 11:31-33; 12:24).

Israel, the ten tribes, became faithless and began worshipping the false gods of the nations roundabout. As a consequence she was cast off from Divine favor (divorced) and taken captive into Assyria, and has never returned to the land of Palestine. In due course these 10 tribes became scattered, as tribes, among the nations, even to the point of losing their identity and being known as Gentiles, and are often referred to as the "10 lost tribes." But God has not lost sight of them and states, "Is Ephraim my dear son? Is he a pleasant child? For since I spoke against him, I do earnestly remember him still: therefore my bowels are troubled for him; I will surely have mercy upon him, saith the Lord" (Jer. 31:20). Judah, too, was faithless to her covenant and was sent captive into Babylon for seventy years, but in God's providence returned to Palestine and has not ceased to acknowledge Him as her God, the Creator of the heavens and of the earth. She was never divorced by God and has never lost her identity, her people being known everywhere as "Jews."

Despite the fact that in her blindness, her apostasy, Israel lost her identity, the time must come according to prophecy when she would be awakened to it, recognize who she is and receive God's mercy. If we are to identify her we must do so by the light of prophecy. In Genesis, chapter 48, it is stated that Jacob placed his name Israel upon the sons of Joseph and declared that the older son, Manasseh, would "become a people, and he also shall be great," and the younger son, Ephraim, would become "a multitude of nations." If prophecy is to be understood it must be interpreted in the light of the physical facts, and thus it becomes "a lemn unto my feet, and a light unto my path" (Psa. 119:105). Prophecy, the Apostle Peter declares, is of no private interpretation (2 Peter 1:20). God gives the interpretation publicly by the events foretold coming to pass. The physical facts, past and present, make plain the true interpretation for all to see. Can it be said that history has fulfilled and is fulfilling the above prophecies? There can be no gaining the fact that we find in the British Empire "a multitude of nations," and in the United States of America "a great people." Thus we have one identification mark — there are others — by which we are able to identify in these nations the bulk of the people of Israel, the 10 lost tribes.

These two mighty empires have been developed by Israel while she has been in apostasy and they have become her idols and is them she has gloried. But God's favor has been with her in that following Judah's rejection of the Messiah at His first advent the salvation of God through Jesus Christ has been sent to the 10 tribes scattered among the nations (Acts 13:46; 28:25-28). The call in this present age has not been a national one but a call to individuals to follow Christ. Nevertheless, to the extent that individuals in Israel have been governed by the Word of God, and the governments of the nations formed by her have been influenced thereby, these nations have prospered and have had a much higher conception of justice and righteousness than other nations. To the degree evil men and wickedness have gained control these Israelitish nations have been robbed of these blessings. Today we see this evil influence almost in complete control nationally and the people so wholly absorbed in materialism that apart from lip service God is not in all their thoughts. As a consequence we are now witnessing the political, moral and economic disintegration of the British Empire as a whole, and of the United States of America, being brought about by the "waster that destroys," the "man of sin," the "mystery of iniquity," or, in current terminology, the "hidden, or secret, government," whose purpose is to force upon mankind a new tyranny. The time is imminent, however, when Israel will be awakened to her identity and God will again deal with her as a nation, purged and purified as by fire. "Seek me and you shall live . . . seek the Eternal and live lest He set Joseph's house ablaze with fire that none can quench in Israel" (Amos 5:4-6; Malachi 3:2). That fire has surely begun. We are living in the transition period between the Times of the Gentiles, which Scripturally ended in 1914, and the establishment of Christ's Kingdom on this earth. God's time clock has struck and nothing can prolong the lease of world power He gave to the Gentiles for a specific time only (Dan. 2:37, 38, 44).

As Samson of old, when blind, saw that he could destroy the enemies of his people by bringing their house down upon them, so the people of the British and American empires when they realize they have been betrayed by their leaders — financial, political and ecclesiastical — into surrendering their sovereignty, will, while still blind to their identity, lay hold of the two main pillars of the hidden government — international finance and organized religion — and bring the whole structure down like a millstone cast into the sea (Revelation, chapters 17 and 18), completely destroying the present world order. As these two chapters of Revelation declare, God will put it into the hearts of the 10 horns — "my people" — to give unto the "beast" (Europe, their power sovereignty), for one hour. This we now see taking form. He then instructs His people to throw off the old woman that has been and is riding, manipulating and controlling the rulers, and to "eat her flesh, and burn her with fire" — confiscate her assets and utterly destroy her Babylonian system of international finance and organized religion. Soon thereafter the visible phase of God's Kingdom in power and great glory will be established on this earth, by which and through which He will bring about the blessing of all the families of the earth.

The people of the British and American empires, and other nations of the 10 tribes, awakening to their identity, will rise again, not as they are at present constituted but as Israel, to the joy, praise and honor of God and their own rich blessing. Then with repentant Judah (Jer. 3:18) they will as the whole house of Israel return representatively to the Land of Promise. "Ephraim shall not envy Judah, and Judah shall not vex Ephraim" (Isa. 11:13) but "they shall come together out of the land of the north to the land (Palestine) that I have given for an inheritance unto your fathers" (Jer. 3:18). "For the law shall go forth of Zion (the centre of the Kingdom), and the word of the Lord from Jerusalem" (Micah 4:2-4) until, "the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea" (Hab 2:14), resulting in ALL men, the living and the dead, being reconciled to God. "Every knee should bow . . . and that every tongue should confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father" (Phil. 2:9-11).

And so God's promise to Israel (the twelve tribes, of which the Anglo-Saxon-Celtic people are the larger part) shall be fulfilled: "And I will cause the captivity of Judah and the captivity of Israel to return, and will build them, as at the first. And I will cleanse them from all their iniquity, whereby they have sinned against me; and I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they have sinned, and whereby they have transgressed against me. And it shall be to me a name of joy, a praise and an honor before all the nations of the earth, which shall hear all the good that I do unto them: and they shall fear and tremble for all the goodness and for all the prosperity that I procure unto it" (Jer. 33:7-9), and say, "Come, and let us go up to the mountain of the Lord, and to the house of the God of Jacob: and he will teach us of His ways, and we will walk in His paths" (Micah 4:2-4).

Israel! "Arise, shine; for thy light is come." Awaken to your identity, put on your garments of glory and beauty, be clothed with the word of God! And the Lord shall arise upon thee, and his glory shall be seen upon thee. And the Gentiles shall come to thy light, and kings to the brightness of thy rising" (Isa. 60:1-3).

Dickens Rewritten!

LONDON — A descendant of Charles Dickens is "judiciously rewriting" his books.

School teacher Doris Dickens, great-granddaughter, says she already has produced versions of Oliver Twist and Great Expectations and is working on Nicholas Nickleby and Barnaby Rudge.

"I just read a chapter and then visualize the reader," she said. "It is sometimes a bit repetitive or diffuse, or perhaps puzzling or roundabout. Then I rewrite it very carefully."

BOSTON — Everett Knowles, 33, underwent delicate surgery for 6½ hours during which 11 surgeons joined four major nerve trunks in his once-severed right arm. Doctors said they were successful but it may be 18 months before success of the entire arm surgery can be determined.

LONDON — Princess Margaret and Lord Snowden returned from their Scottish vacation three weeks ahead of schedule. No explanation was given for their return.

WASHINGTON — The U.S. Senate confirmed by 54-16 Thurgood Marshall's long-pending nomination as a judge of the second U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. The Negro lawyer was counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

WINNIPEG — TV weather man Ed Buchanan has been fired from the CBC. A Liberal candidate against Veterans Affairs Minister Churchill in the June 18 election, he said he was "confident" his political activities led to his dismissal. The CBC denied it.

NEWPORT, R.I. — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy will unveil plans today for a proposed thirty-million dollar national cultural centre to be built on the Potomac in Washington.

HALIFAX — RCMP maintenance inspector Sgt. Robert Turner, 40, said he was surprised that the will of the sixth Earl of Winterton left him no property or land, just the title.

ROME — Italian socialist leader Pietro Nenni left a clinic where he had been recovering from head injuries suffered OTTAWA — Howards Awards for Journalism worth $1,000 each have been won by Charles Lynch, chief of Southam News Services; Christopher Young, editor of the Ottawa Citizen; and Scott Symons of Toronto, formerly with Montreal La Presse.

SAN DIEGO — Mrs. Iva Kroeger, 44, wanted in the strangulation deaths and bizarre basement burials of a Santa Rosa, Calif. couple, was arrested by the FBI.

WINNIPEG — Victor Feldbrill, conductor of the Winnipeg Symphony Orchestra, will make several guest appearances in Russia next spring while a Russian conductor leads the Winnipeg group.

LONDON — Soviet Premier Khrushchev is sending a present to President Kennedy — five cases of wine. British jetliners are being used to transport it.

Beer Caused Train Crash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A government agency charged Monday that beer drinking had "substantially impaired" the condition of the engineer of a train that derailed at the Montana-Idaho border June 10, killing a child and injuring 272 others.

The Interstate Commerce Commission ruled that the fireman on the Northern Pacific Limited had been "somewhat affected" by similar beer consumption.

50,000 Crests Bogus

EDINBURGH (CP) — An authority on the British peerage says that, because of England's easy-going laws on heraldry, there are about 50,000 bogus crests of arms in the country.

Leslie Pine, a retired editor of Burke's Peerage, told the Ninth International Congress of Genealogy and Heraldry that there is "heraldic lawlessness" in England.

Rule-Setters Choose Chief

OTTAWA (CP) — Dr. C. J. Houston of Yorkton, Sask., Tuesday was elected president of the Medical Council of Canada, the organization that sets national-wide standards for provincial medical regulatory bodies.

Dr. Houston succeeds Dr. G. A. Bergeron of Quebec City. Other officers included Dr. William Bramley-Moore of Edmonton, second vice-president.

Key Minister Denies Crime Probe Claims

TORONTO (CP) — Liberal Leader John Wintermeyer's charge that there was "heavy trafficking" in lucrative Ontario social club licenses in late 1961 was denied by Provincial Secretary John Yaremko Tuesday before the province's royal commission on crime.

The minister also sought to reject Mr. Wintermeyer's allegation that criminals used the club charter system to "exploit" the law, but was reminded by Commissioner Mr. Justice W. D. Roach that the inquiry has received much evidence of unlawful gambling activities carried on behind the cloak of charters.

Mr. Yaremko, first witness called in the investigation disengaged temporarily from its running battle with gambler Vincent Feeley to look into the club system, undertook a point-by-point reply to the Liberal leader's legislative speech of last Nov. 23, which touched off the inquiry.

He came before the commission with a 75,000-word brief reinforced with 15 appendices, all adding up to 1,055 pages of departmental organization, history and defence of policies stretching back for years. He was about half-way through when the sitting adjourned until today.

Meanwhile, the commission's next try to have the commission disqualified. Feeley wants permission to appeal from a refusal of the Ontario court of appeal to rule on his claim that Mr. Justice Roach showed bias and disallowed Feeley to get at the evidence in a private examination of a former associate who gave information about the gambler for Sept. 18 to hear the gambler's future use at a public sitting.

Third broken boom since arriving in U.S. interrupted practice of Australian 12-metre sloop Gretel off Newport, R.I., yesterday. Metal expert Frank Neville, left, and Gretel's

Australian Discipline Around Challenger

NEWPORT, R.I. (CP)—An aura of Australian calm and calculated silence surrounds the yacht Gretel, which will open America's Cup match-race series against Wetherly Saturday.

Sir Frank Packer, 55-year-old newspaper publisher and organizer of the syndicate that owns the Australian challenger, has imposed a spartan discipline on his cohorts.

Packer's regime is faintly reminiscent of football in that his crew for the 12-metre Gretel—comprising 11 men—comes under a daily routine as rigorous as that imposed on football players. In fact, as tough as the training for a prize-fighter—which Packer once was.

This involves the determined physical training of Gretel's men and a close-mouthed approach to the chances of the vessel—the first 12-metre craft ever built in Australia—on the basis of trials.

Lions' Offence Close to 'Pegs

REGINA (CP)—B.C. Lions, according to official Western Conference statistics released by statistician Bill Hawrylak, have emerged as a new offensive threat in the Canadian Football League.

Figures for the first six games for each club show the expected—that Winnipeg Blue Bombers are the top offensive club. The Grey Cup champions gained a net total of 2,286 yards in their first six games. But they are being closely pressed by the Lions, who have 2,163 yards and who gained an additional 115 yards on the Bombers when the two clubs played their seventh games over the weekend.

Behind the top two clubs are Calgary Stampeders with 1,973 yards, the Edmonton Eskimos with 1,853 yards and the Saskatchewan Roughriders with only 1,424 yards.

Bombers and Lions also show the best balanced attack. The Bombers have the league high of 1,193 yards passing and rate third in rushing with 1,093 yards. The Lions are second in rushing with 1,118 yards, third in passing with 1,043 yards.

Stampeders who rely heavily on fullback Earl Lunenburg lead in rushing with 1,375 yards but have only 648 from passing. Eskimos apparently have lost their once-crushing ground attack, carrying for only 693 yards while passing for 1,080 yards. Riders have 842 yards rushing, 582 passing.

Lions have averaged 5.4 yards along the ground in 207 carries, the Stampeders 5.3 yards in 245 ground plays. Bombers and Eskimos are averaging 4.8 yards on the ground and Riders 4.4 yards. In the air, the Bombers have completed 64 per cent of 114 passes, the Lions 59 per cent of 131, Riders 44.6 of 83 and Stampeders 40.5 per cent of 106.

One New Referee Probable For Tonight's Minto Cup Game

'Victory Over Myself'

By FLOYD PATTERSON

When I add up my own blessings, I know how far I have come from the darkness of the cellars and subways and the fears which used to haunt me and still haunt me now and then, but I'm no longer afraid, because I know now that nobody can do for me what I can do for myself.

I take pride now in the way I'm able to speak and write and mingle with all kinds of people, although I was more nervous than at any time in my life when I had an audience with President Kennedy. I had a start toward an education, but I've never said to myself that I didn't have to learn any more once I was handed my diploma from P.S. 614.

I'm not ashamed to reveal it, but whenever I go these days I carry books with me, and one of those books is a dictionary.

I have no intention of preaching a sermon this late in the story of my life, but it does seem to me that all people should be treated alike until you discover for yourself that one is better or more likeable or more honest or more decent than the other.

For myself, I approach everybody in one way. They are all 100 per cent, and I let them find their own level. There must be room in all of us for understanding. Coming from a fighter that may seem a strange thought to some people. Ours is the only business in which the fundamental idea is to knock the mental idea of unconscious, and other guy unconscious, and if you follow that thought through to its logical conclusion, it is the only sport in which a man has a license to hurt another man.

It's As Simple As That

Yet there isn't hate in any of us. For myself, I can truthfully say I feel no differently inside if I'm fighting a white man or a Negro. I've got the title. The other man is trying to take it away from me. It's as simple as that. It's the way of life put into a ring surrounded by ropes, but before the fight neither one of us hates the other. During the fight we respect each other, and after it there is a kind of admiration and understanding which two men who have fought honestly can have for each other.

After the third fight against Ingemar, for instance, I went to him, threw my arms around him and kissed him on the cheek. The press made a good deal of that act of mine the next day at a press conference. I realized it was a strange thing to do. I think I called it "girlish" when they asked me about it, but it was my expression of admiration for a man who had fought me well. That I beat him two straight after he had knocked me out was unimportant. The important thing is that he was a formidable opponent.

Lots to Like About Ingo

There is a lot about Ingo-mar which I admire, aside from his fighting ability. I like the way he handled himself when he was the champion and the kind of appearance he made to the public. He was on TV frequently and around the kind of places where people saw him a lot. After I defeated him the first time I resolved that I would try to be a lot like him in that respect, but I soon discovered that that kind of public life was not for me. I made some public appearances, but they're not the kind Ingo-mar seems to be his best at. He's more of an outgoing type of person than I am and no matter how much I would like to be, I just can't.

Curling Meeting

Annual meeting of the Sunday Commercial Curling League will be held at the Victoria Curling Club next Sunday starting at 7:30. Last season's players and others interested are invited to attend.

to be myself simply because I can't be anybody else. As long as I'm the champion and I don't know how long I will continue to fight—I may continue being the champion nobody knows. At least, that's what a lot of newspapermen say about me. Sure, I go away to an isolated training camp and work hard there. But it's my business. I find that being alone I'm able to do more.

I have crowds with me now—a manager, trainers, and sparring partners, lawyers and accountants. Some of them are still with me when I climb the four steps up into the ring and wait for the opening bell. But then it sounds, and they're out all over the arena, except for those that come on from the ring, and then you see the man coming toward you from the other corner. And then it is only me against him. As I write this, I am the world's champion. But I am alone. Is there an other way?

(Last of a series)

Brampton's junior lacrosse team, unhappy with refereeing in the Minto Cup series with Victoria Shamrocks, likely will get one new official for tonight's fifth game.

Brampton's coach, Larry Kendall, Tuesday repeated threats made after Monday's game at Memorial Arena, to refuse to send his team on the floor unless two of the three referees were replaced.

Victoria won the game, 12-7, to tie the series, 2-2. Sixth game is set for Friday night and a possible seventh Saturday.

Kendall described the refereeing as the worst he had ever seen and said late Tuesday he had not been contacted by any of the series' officials.

"We either get a change in referees, or we don't floor a team," he vowed.

Kendall's club received 87 of 120 minutes in penalties during Monday's game. He said he was satisfied with the work of Jackie Northup but that he would not continue the series if Sid Greenwood and Dave Unwin were the other two referees.

The Colonist has learned from a reliable source that Gogie Stewart will replace either Unwin or Greenwood.

Unwin became the third referee after the first two games in an attempt to curb rough play.

Brampton has had 224 of the 360 minutes in penalties in the series.

Tonight's game is billed for 8:30.

Sanford Rears Back And Just Can't Lose

A huge bit of advice, call it an order if you wish, may win the National League pennant for the San Francisco Giants.

It made a star pitcher out of Jack Sanford, a dedicated, hard-throwing right-hander, who never quite seemed to live up to his promise after compiling a 19-8 record in 1957, his first full season with Philadelphia Phillies.

When Sanford slumped to

It was the seventh straight win for the Giants' and their ninth in 10 games since it was announced that Dark had been given a new two-year contract.

But Los Angeles Dodgers, who have much the softer schedule for the balance of the season, stayed a half game ahead with a 3-1 win over Chicago Cubs.

THROWING ERRORS

Maury Wills was again a hero, but almost a goat, too. He led off with a single, then stole his 50th base and scored the first run of the game. He singled in the Dodgers' third run in the fourth, then made two ninth-inning throwing errors which only fine relief pitching by Ron Perranoski stopped from being a dangerous rally.

Yogi Berra came through again as New York Yankees added a half game to their American League lead with a 10-inning 8-7 win over Detroit Tigers.

Up as a pinch-hitter in the eighth inning, Berra produced a run-scoring fly as the Yankees scored three runs to take a 7-5 lead. After the Tigers had tied it in their half, Berra produced his 350th major league home run in the first extra inning.

Meanwhile, Los Angeles Angels blanked Minnesota Twins for the second game in a row, and took over the runner-up spot, four games out. El Grba got the win and Lee Thomas, another ex-Yankee, was the batting star in the 9th route.

Feree, Marr Win Match

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS—Jim Feree and Dave Marr Tuesday became the first winners of the Harrison International Golf Trophy.

The U.S. pro turned in a combined score of 150 in the 18-hole match against the Canadian team of Al Belding and George Knudson to win by one stroke. Belding's 72 was the low score.

Gary Player Joins Nicklaus and Palmer

The South African pro had been mistakenly quoted as saying he was cancelling out of the $35,000 Seattle Open. The Open starts Thursday. Player will join Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and

Hockey Boundary For Minor Players

Boundary line between Greater Victoria Minor Hockey Association and the Esquimalt Minor Hockey Association has been determined, just in time for the start of GVMHA registrations Saturday.

The boundary is a line from north of the Strait up the centre of Victoria harbor, the Selkirk waters to Harriet Road, north to Burnside, northwest to Marigold, north to Interurban, northwest to West Saanich Road, the termination point of the boundary.

Any players living north, east or west of the terminal may play for the association of his choice and this also applies to players registered with either association prior to the 1962-63 season.

Rain Almost Wrecks Cricket Finale

LONDON (Special)—Yorkshire has won the English county cricket championship for a 25th time after one of the greatest down-to-the-wire battles in history involving two equally dangerous opponents—Worcestershire and the weather.

A last-day victory over Glamorgan in a match they had to win for the title ended a tense three-day wait for Worcestershire and brought normally back to a nation that had suddenly been caught in the grip of an almost unprecedented enthusiasm for cricket.

In football "cup final" atmosphere, England's sporting public brushed aside all other interests to follow ball-by-ball the progress of a match that meant so much to so many—and was almost wrecked by rain.

Thousands of Yorkshiremen stormed Harrogate from all parts of the northern county to watch 20 wickets fall on the opening day and their favorite take an apparent grip on their third title in four seasons. But then the rains fell, washing out the second day and making play uncertain in the third.

As Worcester had its breath and looked hopefully at an overcast sky, Yorkshire needed only three hours to finish off an eight-wicket victory over the Welshmen to clinch a great last season drive that brought seven victories in the last 10 games. Less than two hours after Yorkshire began a massive victory celebration, it rained again.

Worcester suffered through the final game after completing its schedule a day before it started. It became a trial by transistor radio in the Midlands city as everything stopped while thousands anxiously followed Yorkshire and watched the weather forecasts.

A newswire hawked papers with a cry "It's still raining like hell" and one edition of the local newspaper sold out in five minutes with a headline "Glorious Rain."

Seldom has an English summer proved so stubborn an opponent for leading county teams. Worcestershire in particular. The Midlands side was thwarted of victory because of rain in nine matches and one game in which no decision was possible turned out to be the difference. Only four points separated the two leaders at the end.

Worcestershire also had a crippling run of late-season injuries that sidelined such key players as fast bowler Jack Favell for the last 15 games and number three batsman Ron Headley for the last 17.

Tom Graves, who made a sensational return to county cricket this season after waiting out a one-year qualification period before he could join Worcestershire, led all batsmen with a 54.02 average from 2,258 runs. But he missed 12 games.

That Worcestershire managed its best performance in a 63-year history and improved its 1961 position by two placings was due partly to outstanding reserve strength.

Worcester's second eleven won its competition by a month to spare with an 18-1 record and supplied vital replacements in the closing weeks, underlining Worcester's hopes for a bright future. The runners-up have already been labelled as the hottest contenders for next year's championship race.

Most observers felt Yorkshire was not a great side but few disputed captain Vic Wilson's victory proclamation: "Worcestershire are a good side, but my boys are the real county cricket champions."

"Which one is Ted Dexter?"

St. Leger Draws 15

DONCASTER, England (AP)—Fifteen thoroughbred horses from four countries have been named for today's St. Leger—the oldest of Britain's horse race classics.

The Italian Antelami impressed observers in his final training gallop and bet poured in on him.

Bookies made the Italian derby winner a 4-to-2 favorite, with Larkspur, Irish-trained winner of the English Derby, second favorite at 4-to-1. Monterrico, an English-trained horse, was 8-to-1, Miralzo 10-to-1 and Hetherst and Idle Hour bracketed at 11-to-1.

The St. Leger, over a mile and 6 1/2 furlongs on turf, first was run in 1776.

Three-year-old colts and fillies from England, Ireland, France and Italy are chasing the $98,920 first prize.

Minor Soccer Registrations Will Continue

Further registrations for the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association will be held Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon at nine city parks.

Registrations are mainly for boys 8-10, but any boy of any age who wishes to play is invited to turn out.

Parks are Hollywood, Majestic, Bullen, Lansdowne, Reynolds Road, Windsor, Beacon Hill, Hampton and Central.

Perfect Racing Strip Awaits Meet Opener

Rain—not too much of it, mind you—would be a welcome sight for horse owner and race-track official alike if it fell between now and Friday, when the annual thoroughbred meeting at Sandown Park gets started.

Lightning fast is the way the five-furlong strip is described. An automatic rock-picker has been working the strip over for several weeks and it is said to be in perfect condition.

"It's the best five-furlong strip in the Pacific Northwest," a spokesman said proudly yesterday. "But," he added, "we could do with a little rain."

RECORDS SEEN

In any event, barring too much inclement weather, track officials are looking forward to a record-breaking meet. They expect 250 thoroughbreds—239 are already listed—and state they have 15 riders coming with the probability that the latter figure will rise to close to 20 by the time the first race starts.

Listed as ready to accept mounts at Sandown are jockeys George Miller, Al Ventrella, Al Fernandez, Kelly Dominguez, Charlie Ulrich, Fred Longo, Amos Martinez, Al Sherman, Delmar and Wesley Jones, Wayne Anderson, and Gordon Atkins and apprentices Buster Mills, Larry Kunitake and Ken Nishimoto.

Mills was the leading bug-boy at Vancouver this season with 33 winners, and Kunitake ranked second among the apprentices.

And there will be plenty of old favorites among the thoroughbreds for the often sentimental Victoria punters—such as Pro-Tick, Hookhanger, Keats Island, Beau Sierra, Indian Springs, Pebble's Pride, Bob's Mistake, Traphooter, La Viscina, Our Hour, Doree Dee, Sleepy Star and Plover.

Call, to name a few, among the players. And, stepping up a bit, such as Prince Alfred, Justy George, Sir Jungle, Bay Toe and Vie Valley.

In a major change, there will be no daily double betting this year. Officials explained that the double has been losing in popularity and have replaced it with a quinella on the first race. There will also be a quinella on the last race and, for the first time here, Exacto betting. It will be on the fourth race, and bettors will have to pick the first two horses in order of finish.

First post time each day will be at 2:15, possible because daylight saving time has been extended this year until the end of October.

Improvements, other than to the racing strip, include a new jockey room, a new secretary's office, and an added roofed-in area around the mutual department.

Garden Notes

Operation Peony

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

The peony is one plant which doesn't take very kindly to being shifted from one spot to another and always seems happiest when allowed to go its own way, settling down comfortably in the same place for a span of years. There comes a time in the life of every plant, though, when it gets overgrown and congested, and the goodness in the soil around the roots is exhausted.

A peony has reached this stage when the bush has become pretty big, with ten shoots or more coming up from the roots. The outer stems of the clump are floppy and must be supported with one of those wire hoop gadgets around its middle. The flowers are smaller and more numerous than normal, but don't last very long in bloom.

Several of my peonies have reached this stage after living in the same spot for over four years, and blooms this summer were nowhere near as large nor as fresh-looking as those from young plants. These have been earmarked to be dug up, divided, and the pieces replanted into a new site this fall.

I am watching these elderly plants carefully for them to signal the time for transplanting has arrived. The signal is a change of color in the leaf—reddish or bronze tints, or in some varieties, merely a darker or duller shade of green.

This usually occurs around the end of September, varying somewhat with the weather, and the beginning of fall coloring in the leaf marks the best time of the whole year either to transplant your present clumps of over-age peonies, or to buy and plant roots of new varieties.

Lots of peony roots are bought and planted in the spring—I suppose the dealers find them easier to sell while the spring planting fever is running high—and these spring-planted roots usually grow and thrive, but are often a year or more later in coming into bloom than fall-planted specimens.

In transplanting your overgrown clumps, ease them out of the ground gently with a digging fork, levering them up from several angles until they come free without any breakage. Once up, I like to turn the hose on mine, washing them free of soil so I can see what I'm doing when I go to divide them.

First, cut away all the topgrowth, right down close to the root, and the only really safe place for this material is in the incinerator. We've had a lot of peony botrytis disease around, and if your plants have picked up a touch of this infection, the disease spores will be resting on the lower stems. Burn them.

Now you can divide your clump of fleshy roots into smaller pieces, using a knife or an old hacksaw blade. Don't cut up the clumps too small, for while each piece with an "eye" is capable of making a new plant, such small bits could be as long as three years before any flowers are borne. For early blooming, each piece for replanting should contain from three to five of these eyes or growth buds.

Remember, these plants are going to be living in the same piece of ground for the next four or five years, so it pays to be generous with the manure. Use only very old, well-rotted material, a scant bucketful per square yard, supplementing this with bone meal, one cupful per square yard. Dig it in widely, not just in the planting holes, for peonies range further afield than you would think. In planting, be very careful not to set the roots in too deep—the growth buds should be covered with exactly two inches of soil, no more, no less. Peonies planted too deeply will never bloom.

It Makes Me Sick, Says JOHN CROSBY

They Peddle Decadence

TORREMOLINOS, Spain—I have never known a place that subverts so completely on its gossip, eating it, drinking it, relishing it.

There is as much variety to Torremolinos gossip as there is to French cheeses, and as much subtlety.

Any young writer might be forgiven for thinking: "All you got to do is write the stuff down, and by Jove, you got a novel." As a matter of fact several writers have done just that.

Let's take just two: "Enough Romance" by Gerda Rhoads. ("Against a background of village, mountains and sea, the members of this group act out the twenty-four hours of each day in drinking, scandal, gossip, intrigue, amorous adventure and mad escapades." That, from the dust jacket.)

Or, let's dip into "Island of Women" by Juan Goytisolo. ("A bold excursion into the Dolce Vita of bored and decadent females—and their men—who idle on the blazing Spanish coast.")

There's a strong body of opinion here that thinks both these books rank high among the worst ever written. Frankly, I think that's flattering them. They're not good enough to be considered that bad.

They're—I can think of no better word—paltry novels, a splatter of words intended mostly to titillate.

In fact, a perusal of both these books has led me to promulgate what I like to think of as Crosby's Law of Fiction: The more unsavory the gossip, the duller the novel. The more strait-laced the community, the better the novel. (It's not at all sure this will hold up if you examine the world's fiction but it's a wonderful idea.)

"Enough Romance" is full of enough sex, deviation, drunkenness, suspicions of incest, dreams of suicide, to fill a police blotter. And, God, it's a dull book. With that kind of material how can you succeed in being dull, you ask? Well, it's not easy.

Now, just for contrast, take any novel by Jane Austen. It's warm. It's alive. It's interesting. It's human. But it's not box office.

I don't suppose anything ever fell with a duller thud than the Gerda

Rhoads book, while Jane Austen's books are still doing extremely well in the book stalls.

The idea that decadence is automatically fascinating is one of the most debatable propositions I ever heard. What I mean is: If you want decay, decay quietly. You don't have to go writing books about it. Just rot away, and shut up, for God's sake. When I look around Pedro's and look at all those decadent faces, each one at this very moment, fashioning a rotten novel ("Against a background of village, mountains and sea... drinking, amorous adventure, mad escapades." It'll say on the dust jacket of all of them.) It makes me sick.

Now if you want to know what my novel is about, well, man, it's about this little girl who nurses a sick foal to healthy young horsehood and they go on to win the Grand National together.

And, brother, I'm going to make five times as much money as all the sex-obsessed novels being written in Torremolinos at this very minute.

Silvers To Revive 'Sgt. Bilko'

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Phil Silvers will be returning to the role that made him famous, "Sergeant Bilko." The popular comedian, now playing one of the many leads in Stanley Kramer's comedy movie, "It's a Mad, Mad World," has agreed to reactivate the character he originated on television, in a musical play for Broadway. Jerry Chodorov and Joe Fields are writing the book.

Anthony Quinn will be seen on four New York marquees this winter—in his play, "Tehin, Tehin," and three movies: "Barabbas," "Requiem for a Heavyweight" and "Lawrence of Arabia," all in the blockbuster class.

Columbia, with high Oscar hopes for Steve McQueen and R. J. Wagner in "The War Lover," will release the movie at the best time for such aspirations—in October.

I don't believe it, but someone told me they saw Jayne Mansfield at a famed leather shop in Rome, asking for a leather bra. But, come to think of it, why not?

Ernie Kovacs had ambitions to star in "The Maurice Chevalier Story." "Now I don't know who will play me," Maurice told me, "but I do know who will be Chevalier after the age of 50—me."

Everyone, it seems, is hoping to play the title role in Otto Preminger's picture, "The Cardinal." Prospects range from Robert Redford, to believe it or not, Tony Curtis.

Jean Seberg is having an intellectual fling in Paris. Her guide is author Romain Gary.

Rock Hudson has been pricing wedding rings for the third finger left hand of Marilyn Maxwell. I never really believed these two would marry—it seemed more like a friendship of convenience. I've changed my mind.

Ron "Panic Button" Gorton is paying Phil Harris for his play, "The Odd Ball." Mrs. Harris (Alice Faye) had a big press in England recently where they remember and cherish old favorites—Dorothy Lamour discovered when she was in London last year for "The Road to Hong Kong."

When Richard Burton gave Elizabeth Taylor that diamond pendant, he told her, "I can afford it—you've been so helpful to my career." Richard says "yes" to every big offer—then changes his mind. First he said "yes" for "Fear is the Chain," then he said no. Now he is saying yes again. And he said yes for "Becket," now is not sure. He said yes for the Rodgers and Lerner musical, but is now iffy. He is definite, today, for "Camelot" as a film.

Charlton Heston was discussing the problems of the extras while he was making "El Cid" in Spain. "Everyone wanted to play a Christian soldier, no one wanted to be a Moor. So we paid them more to be a Moor. Then everyone wanted to be a Moor." Problems!

"Chubby" Checkers, who started the twist craze, told them in London he has something new—the popeye. It's more swifly than the twist.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissues on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Millions Saved

By TERRY HAMMOND

Interim public accounts for fiscal 1961-62 released by the provincial government yesterday are calculated to bring naught but yawns from Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition. Premier Bennett has done it again.

By habitually spending less than he says he will and taking in more than he thinks he will, he erects an effective buffer against criticism of provincial budgets.

In the 1961-62 fiscal year the government under-estimated revenue by $10,481,000 and left $17,100,000 unspent.

Among 330 separate appropriations only 48 were over-spent—by a total of $3,600,000. At the same time, 243 were under-spent by $20,860,000.

Instead of having to reconcile 1961-62 expenditures with revenue by pumping in $13,000,000 from the revenue surplus account, the premier has accumulated a $10,481,000 surplus to add to the $18,239,000 in the account.

With 1962-63 revenues some $12,000,000 higher than anticipated at the end of the first quarter, another vast budget surplus seems certain.

Major under-expenditure for 1961-62 came from the highways department, $10,500,000. Trans-Canada Highway expenditures were trimmed $2,200,000, construction of other roads, bridges and ferries was cut $2,000,000.

The B.C. Hospital Insurance Service underspent by more than $2,000,000 and the education department by $1,200,000. Liquor profits were up $1,000,000 and sales and permit taxes up $3,500,000. The logging tax haul, estimated at $2,750,000, brought in $3,353,000.

Largest over-expenditure was for social assistance, more than $2,000,000.

Death-Car Driver Convicted 'Obvious Fabrication' Cited

Richard Lasalle, 551 Niagara, was convicted of dangerous driving in city police court yesterday in connection with the Aug. 5 death of Mrs. Bertha Burford.

He was fined $400 and prohibited from driving for 18 months.

Mrs. Burford died in hospital after a collision on Dallas Road near the Clover Point turnoff. She was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Helen Hamel of Canora, Sask.

In defence, Lasalle said he had hit the Hamel car after averting to avoid a small dog. The collision occurred as he glanced back to see if he had hit the dog.

This part of the 27-year-old Lasalle's testimony was branded an "obvious fabrication" by Magistrate William Oatler in giving his judgment. Court found his ability to drive was impaired by alcohol at the time of the accident. Lasalle said he had had three bottles of beer.

"I find also that the accused drove his vehicle at a speed both illegal and imprudent," said Mr. Oatler.

Magna Faces Final Hearing

Public Utilities Commission chairman Dr. H. F. Angus announced yesterday a public hearing will be held within two weeks to decide whether Magna Pipelines Ltd. will keep its certificate to bring gas to Vancouver Island.

Dr. Angus announced the decision to hold a hearing after he conferred with Magna president Ralph K. Farria of Vancouver. Neither the date nor the location of the hearing have been decided.

The decision was announced after the company failed to meet a PUC deadline earlier this month for filing a contract for pipeline supply.

The British company whose flexible line was the basis for the $35,000,000 gas transmission project failed to produce satisfactory joints and an initial contract with Magna had to be revoked.

The company's engineers say they have solved the problem but Magna investors want a new series of sea tests before entering into another contract and the tests could not be conducted before the PUC deadline.

Meanwhile, a company which opposed Magna's application at the original hearings, Island Transmission Co. Ltd., has been invited to attend when the next one is held.

Unusual Bail Allowed For Youths

Three youths convicted last week of a year-old breaking and entering charge were let out on bail of $500 each when they appeared yesterday in city police court. They will be sentenced Sept. 20.

Magistrate William Oatler allowed the unusual move when told the court had not had time to prepare a probation report on the youths.

AND EQUIPMENT

Douglas Howbottom, 249 Regina, and Brian Kotchum, 3125 Earl Grey, both 19, were convicted of theft of a motor cycle and motorcycle equipment from Brooklands Motorcycle Sales and Service, 937 Fort, Sept. 17, 1961.

Richard Clayton Gillies, 21, of 2831 Murray, was found guilty of possession of stolen property valued at more than $50.

All three youths told the court their employers were willing to post the surties for them.

In view of their cooperation with police at the time of the investigation, the magistrate granted the bail.

CONTINUING PROGRESS... The market grows BIGGER and BIGGER!

Since the beginning of the year most sectors of British Columbia business have shown continued betterment. The labor scene remains undisturbed by major strikes as the lumber and construction workers sign new long-term contracts. Large shipments of iron ore and concentrates and the general mining activity are well in advance of previous years. Hotels and restaurants are reporting a record volume of business as an unprecedented number of tourists visit the Province. At least 26,000 more British Columbians have jobs now than a year ago. Highlights of our own expansion during the first half of 1962 reflect this steady growth:

- 12,000 new telephones were installed - 41% more than in the previous January-June period. Total telephones now exceed 580,000.
- A further 20,000 telephones were converted from manual to automatic operation, involving the installation of 17 new dial offices. More than 94% of all telephones in service are now dial operated.
- Over $16,000,000 was spent on construction to meet the demands for new services and a further $26,000,000 will be required for the balance of the year.
- Net half yearly income available for ordinary shareholders represented earnings of $1.49 per average ordinary share.

It is estimated that the population of B.C. will rise by 273,000 during the next five years. As a result, the number of telephones in service will increase by approximately 127,000. To insure that adequate facilities are available to meet this growth, it is expected that the Company will spend $190,000,000 for the construction of new plant and equipment.

Ground Broken for $1,500,000 Christie Point Block

By JACK FREY

Ground has been broken for a $1,500,000 garden court apartment development at scenic Christie Point in Portage Inlet.

It will be one of the unique developments of its kind in western Canada.

About 15 men and nearly a dozen pieces of equipment were at work yesterday clearing, felling trees and blasting rock at building sites.

Up to 60 or 70 tradesmen, including sub-trades, will be on the job before the 161-suite apartment project is completed six months to a year from now.

Christie Point is a beautiful

fully-treed 154-acre peninsula which juts northward into Portage Inlet in the View Royal area.

Entrance is from the Old Island Highway near Admirals Road.

Strong opposition encountered from local groups—contending effluent from any development on the peninsula might cause further pollution of the inlet—was overcome when developers arranged to pump sewage into the nearby Esquimalt sewer system.

One of the former leaders of the opposition, View Royal Community Association chairman Lloyd Young, said yesterday: "As long as they make a good job of it we're quite happy."

Contractors said it will be a first-class development. T. A. Pearce of Nanaimo, a partner in A and B Construction of that city told the Colonist his firm was awarded a contract amounting to nearly $1,500,000.

W. C. Syrett of Victoria, superintendent of the project, said nine two-story buildings will be placed at random along the peninsula and connected by a road running the entire length. "We will leave as many trees as possible," he said, adding there will be a kidney-shaped outdoor, heated swimming pool.

All the buildings will have picture windows fronting on the water and all two or three-bedroom suites will have patios.

Some of the buildings will have pitched roofs, others flat roofs, said Mr. Syrett. The buildings will be finished partially in brick, siding and stucco to give a pleasing architectural tone to the overall appearance, he said.

How long it takes to complete the new development will depend largely upon weather conditions during the winter months. Workmen will start on one building and go to the next.

Local tradesmen will be employed wherever possible, said the superintendent.

Playland at Colwood Strongly Supported By Outlying Areas

Spokesmen for five small communities from View Royal to Metchosin yesterday threw their support behind a recent proposal of MLA Herbert Bruch for community development of the unused Colwood exhibition grounds.

Mr. Bruch said Saturday that View Royal, Colwood, Langford, Luxton and Metchosin could pool their Canadian centennial year grants toward construction of a giant recreational area for Greater Victoria.

WILL CALL MEETING

Stan Hisecock, manager of the Luxton Fair, said he will call a meeting of leaders from all these areas to consider the scheme, and he will invite Mr. Bruch to participate.

The Esquimalt MLA said he would be "quite happy to help get the thing rolling."

GREATER SUCCESS

Lloyd Young, chairman of the View Royal Community Association, said "I think we could work something up out of that. It has wonderful possibilities. It would have more of a community spirit and be a greater success."

André Ostry, president of the Colwood and District Chamber of Commerce, said the Colwood fair grounds is "an ideal spot" for this type of development, and "it's the only place big enough this side of the Malahat."

Tom Henthley, chairman of the Langford recreation commission, said "We'd back them up on it but we need a meeting of the commission first to discuss it."

John Page, secretary of the Metchosin recreation commission, said "It's a good idea but we'd need the co-operation of the city and three municipalities."

CENTENNIAL GRANTS

"I'm all for development of the Colwood fair grounds, and I think the meeting is a good idea, but we should find out first how much the centennial grants will be."

"A lot of people living in Victoria will remember the old Willow's Fairground and the pleasures it brought, and would like to see something like that come back again," said Mr. Page.

Black Widows Bite Two

A child and a man—both believed bitten by black widow spiders while asleep in their beds—were suffering from painful swelling last night.

Dwayne Van Duzee, nearly two years old, 3417 Quadra, was bitten on the foot early Monday, causing his whole leg to swell. He was treated by a family physician.

Stan Bell, 21, of 631 Lamson, said he woke up Monday morning with his hand swollen and arm aching. When he looked into the bedclothes he found the spider.

NO RED MARK

He said it was black but had no visible red mark.

George Hardy, 145 Spartan, former provincial anti-malarial, said yesterday the black widow does not necessarily have the red hour-glass marking.

The spider was sent to the Saanichton laboratory for an entomology report, but had not arrived there yesterday, an official said.

SIZE OF FEA

Bell said he noticed the bite near his shoulder. The arm was aching. He described the spider as "about the size of a pea."

"My whole arm was aching when I woke up and my hand swelled up," he said.

Mr. Hardy said about five per cent of cases are fatal. The poison affects the nervous system.

Effects depend on amount injected, age and health of the victim and the part of the body attacked.

NOT AGGRESSIVE

Normally the black widow is not aggressive, said Mr. Hardy. If frightened or angered it will bite.

He said they are liable to be found wherever there is a dry, rocky ground, Mount Douglas and Little Saanich Mountains are favorite spots.

City Wants Early Start

$650,000 Civic Plaza Bylaw May Go to Voters This Year

By IAN STREET

Prospect of a December civic election vote on a money bylaw to begin construction of the Centennial Square civic plaza early in 1963 is growing stronger every day.

Ald. A. W. Toone, chairman of the special committee charged with carrying out the $1,655,000, five-year project, said this week he personally favored a bylaw vote to speed the project on its way.

MAYOR IN FAVOR

Mayor R. B. Wilson and other members of city council have indicated they also favor an early start. This requires short-term borrowing of several hundred thousand dollars, to be repaid out of profits from sale of city-owned properties.

First indications from city finance chairman Ald. Arthur Dowell were that $500,000 would suffice; but an up-to-date review of money in the tax sale lands fund, provided recently by city manager C. C. Wyatt shows likelihood that between $600,000 and $630,000 is required.

TOTAL OF $214,000

Mayor Wilson said yesterday the city manager's latest report shows cash in the tax sale lands fund now stands at $135,000 with an additional $99,000 in investments bringing the total to $234,000.

Agreements of sale will bring in another $100,000 over the next few years.

TOTAL INCOME

Civic officials have estimated that total income from sales of city-owned property over the next 10 years will top $900,000. When government grants are included the major share of the total cost of the project is expected to be covered.

Ald. Toone said while it is hoped the entire Centennial Square project can be financed over five years without additional direct taxation, this doesn't mean the local taxpayer won't provide most of the money.

CAPITAL FUNDS

"The bulk of the money will come out of the city's capital funds," he said.

To date funds not included in the latest $224,000 total in the land sale coffers, have already been expended for purchase of some property on the civic plaza site and taking of options on others.

NEAR COMPLETION

Ald. Toone said in all but one or two cases negotiations were nearing completion, and his committee is hopeful there will be no need to resort to expropriation proceedings.

The committee has less than four weeks to make up its mind whether to recommend to council a bylaw vote should be put in city ratepayers Dec. 13.

FINAL DECISION

Ald. Toone said the final decision should be made by city council early in November to give the public time to fully consider all aspects of the issue before voting day.

Entire Student Body Kept In for Hour Over Theft of $200

The entire student body of S. J. Willis Junior High School was kept in for an hour after classes yesterday following discovery of the theft of $200 in cash, city.

Principal H. D. Dawson said the money was made up of school fees. It was in a large brown envelope taken from the top of a teacher's desk.

Two classes in the teacher's room about the time of the theft were kept in until 5:15.

Other students were released at 4:30.

School board officials late last night said the incident had not been brought to their attention.

John Gough, superintendent of schools for the district, said he had heard "nothing whatsoever" about the theft.

Heading For Career

Carolyn Marguerite Gier, 19, of Salt Spring Island, was one of hundreds of first-year students who thrived to tedium Head campus yesterday to register for winter semester at Victoria University. She is filling in timetable of courses that will prepare her for a career as an intermediate teacher. —(Karl Spritz)

Tractor Pins Worker

A 43-year-old man who was pinned under a tipped-up tractor at Phyllis and Mount Maker View at 10 a.m. yesterday was in satisfactory condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital last night.

Emanuel Craveiro, 1231 Balmoral, suffered a broken ankle in the mishap.

Police said the Layritz Nurseries employee was working on a landscaping project when the tractor rolled over and pinned him to the ground.

Jaycees Meet

First general meeting of the season for Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held in the Net Loft Restaurant at 6:15 this evening.

Guard Dog Bites Boy

A well-meaning gesture by an 11-year-old boy who went to pet a Western Husky Guard Abelian dog as it sat in a patrol car on Michigan Street resulted in the lad suffering a bitten cheek.

"This is the first time since we have been in business anyone has been bitten by one of our dogs," said WNG owner Earl Lehn last night. "The dogs are trained and will not usually attack unless they receive a command."

Jack Rites Slated On Friday

Funeral services will be held Friday for Gavin Jack, 32, the first cattle buyer in Canada for the Swift Company.

Mr. Jack, of 4705 Cordova Bay, died yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital.

Three sons, all of Victoria, six grandchildren, a brother and a sister in Scotland survive.

Premature Memorial

Claiming reports of his death are "highly exaggerated," George H. Skecher, 1531 Bay, points to his name carved on 1914-18 war memorial in Moreton-in-Marsh, Gloucestershire. Born in Little Compton, four miles away, he served with Royal Engineers in First World War. Mr. and Mrs. Skecher, just returned from Britannia Legion branch tour of Britain, were unable to clear up mystery.

Cat Trend Reversed

Cats' Protection League officials, disturbed lately by the disappearance of numerous cats from Greater Victoria, were scratching their heads yesterday over the mysterious appearance of a feline.

A large grey and white neutered male cat, three or four years old, was found sitting on a dirty metal can inside a wooden crate left on the doorstep of a city laundry.

"We couldn't figure it out. We'd like to find the owner," said a spokesman.

CP Extends Fair Ferries

Brisk business created by the Seattle world's fair has prompted Canadian Pacific Steamship officials to extend the running time of the Victoria-Seattle ferry service until the fair ends Oct. 21.

The fair prince Margaret, which makes the round trip daily, was slated to be taken off this run Sept. 20.

PERSONAL MENTION

Miss Nancy Adams, RN, Miss Patricia Dague, RN, and Miss Lois Polley, RN, were house guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Higgins, Mill Bay. The young nurses travelled via air to the Seattle World's Fair after which they visited relatives at Mill Bay and Victoria. Present at a gathering at Mill Bay were 27 guests to honor the nurses before their return to Boston, Mass.

Return to Banff

Mr. and Mrs. C. Blaseckie, Rose Anne and Mark, left recently for their home in Banff, Alta., after spending holidays with Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Fraser at their Warren Gardens home. The Blaseckies are motoring home through the Okanagan and Rogers' Pass.

Out-of-Town Guests

Out-of-town guests at the Boon-Mewhort wedding were Mrs. Aileen Learmonth, Kamloops, Mrs. F. Couperthwaite, Meadow Lake, Sask., Mrs. Bill Tkatchuk, Cochin, Sask., Mr. and Mrs. M. Stude, New Westminster, Miss Rose Marie Mengersen, Campbell River, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Green, Coombs, B.C., Mrs. E. Worthington and Miss Ellen Worthington, Salt Spring Island.

Attend Wedding

Out-of-town guests at the recent Caird-Allen wedding were Mr. and Mrs. R. Daykin, Fulford Harbor; Mr. John Robertson, Shawinigan Lake; Mr. and Mrs. Herb Wintemute, Qualicum Bay; Mr. and Mrs. Noel Madison, Campbell River; Mr. and Mrs. A. Peterson, New Westminster; Mr. and Mrs. K. Mounsey, Penticton; Mr. George Mounsey, Mr. George Mounsey Jr., Mrs. M. Nixon, Sunset Prairie, B.C.; Mr. Danny Gavin, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Williams, Patricia and Bill, Kennicott, Wash., and Cecil Daykin, Nanaimo.

One of the biggest classes in years, 75, registered yesterday at St. Joseph's School of Nursing, including pretty twins Roberta and Michelle Campbell (shown in centre), and the first two male students to register since 1901, Mr. Jack Nazarov of

Victoria Student Accepted

TORONTO — A record registration of 67 students from three countries will attend the fourth academic-ballet term of the National Ballet School which opened in midtown Toronto Monday, Sept. 10. An additional 15 students are registered for the full-time ballet only course. It was announced by school principal Betty Oliphant.

The school, unique on the continent, was founded in 1959 with a registration of 27. Thirteen of these students are returning for their fourth term. Several have joined the National Ballet of Canada, the professional performing company, and a few have decided to continue their educational careers in college.

Geographically, the registration includes six from British Columbia, three from Quebec, 23 from the United States, one from Nassau, Bahamas, and the remainder from 13 Ontario centres.

Wendy Walker, daughter of Commander and Mrs. M. H. Walker, Bowker Place, has been accepted to the school. She is a former pupil of Vivian Briggs, and Wynne Shaw and attended Norfolk House School.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Nelson, 2564 Dunlevy Street, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Lois Florence, to Mr. Noel Gordon Cutler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Len Cutler, Nelson, B.C. The wedding will take place on Oct. 6 at 7:30 p.m. in Oak Bay United Church, the Rev. A. Calder officiating. —(Meyers Studio.)

Decorative Legs Back Under Desk

LONDON (AP) — The shapely legs of Mrs. Ann Ford were back under her desk today. A policy dispute with the $8,000,000 hosiery firm her husband runs has been settled. The 38-year-old brunette resigned as marketing director of the Bear Brand Hosiery Co. Aug. 24. The company does an international business and Ann's legs decorated every box of hose. Her husband Philip is chairman of the board.

"I resigned from the firm because of disagreement at boardroom level—but I have not left my husband," she explained at the time.

"The disagreement which led to her resignation from the board now has been resolved," said the chairman after a board meeting today. "It must be apparent to all concerned that she has the courage of her convictions." Back in her office, Ann commented, "I have been very miserable without a job."

Exotic Fashions Steal Limelight

"The look" for the young adult at school and on campus... carefree, casual, definitely feminine. The colors... exciting, sophisticated, subtle. This was the fashion trend set by "Gay Gibson Gifts in Fashion" at last night's Gibson's Ladies' Wear show.

After dark, shimmering jewels and jewel tones are thing for winter '62. Long, slim lines are set off in fireworks of color. Generally an understated simplicity marks the smart woman's clothes, whether in loose fitting suits or full-length evening sheaths.

The fabrics, often man-made fibres, are pure chemistry for pure magic in sumptuous brocades and furs.

NOVELTY CAPS
And the furs, they trim everything from a raspberry evening coat with frothy white fox to the nutty brown Borgs on suits and sports wear. Cute, conical caps of Borg often topped casual outfits.

Big this year are the collars. Petite Betty Lum in a burnt orange, gold bulky sweater with wide easy collar above her slimmed slacks showed this effect.

Obvious from last night's show is the fact that plain old slacks and sweaters will no longer do for an outdoor event. The modern look is to be dressed with flair outdoors or in.

Dress in rich autumn tones fuzzy sweaters, very trim and neat slacks with cuddly ear coats. Pat Shea's laminated ear coat showed a mixture of lightness and warmth. Across the Continent the pea jacket is the thing. It combines masculine cut with feminine fabric.

Novel and practical are boots. Both smart and fun, they come in assorted shades to go with your sports ensemble.

LOOSE COATS
Grey is one of THE colors for fall. This year often modelled in the latest boater lines. Coats, pressed back fullness as shown by Mrs. Hazel Sherrett in a mohair and cashmere number with matching braided trim. This coat also demonstrated the off-the-collar line. Straight and young with high heels, held off a little distance from the body or with the belted front, these will be the coats as seen this winter.

Suits is popular dress fabric — one modelled by Pat Margison was in green, a muted brown and green, tops for fall. White mohair pile, "soft as whipped cream," deep and lustrous, and subtly chinchilla cloth are also fabric news.

Always exciting, always right is black. Especially chic when enlivened with jet beads.

and fashioned from floating chiffon for a straight-lined full-length sheath.

"GOBLET SKIRT"
For evening it's tiny waist and soft draped skirts. Manuquin Betty Lum showed a certain cocktail dress with "goblet" skirts blown from a stem waist.

Flowered tulle or taffeta for after five is still. Now its thinnest wool narrow and close to the body.

Opulence in metallic tapes shimmer through evening fashions. Uncomplicated lines with jeweled fabrics are popular such as the lean little suit beaded with black diamonds, modelled by Anne Price featuring dark chiffon over blouse.

Romantic and bewitching gowns glow in such exotic colors as Caribbean turquoise, twilight dusk and Persian pink. Fashioned of pure satin, silk, brocades, taffetas, chiffon, velvet and even wool. In all an extravagance of color, fabric and high style predicting the fashions of the coming winter and fall.

The show was sponsored by the Robert Burns McKicking Chapter IOOE and commended by Ruth Deno. Jack Macgregor played the organ and musical highlight of the show was singer Terry Cain. Hair styles were by Danny.

Models were Pat Shea, who all show's opening appeared in Centennial costume. Linda Gibson, Judy Brown, Mary Anne McLeod, Marianne Potter, Valerie Gay, Karen Mathison, Val-

Catherine M. Sweeney Marries RCMP Officer

Nuptial mass was solemnized Saturday morning in St. Andrew's Cathedral when Catherine Mary Sweeney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Sweeney of Victoria exchanged vows with Const. Donald Raymond Andrews, RCMP, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Andrews, Cobourg, Ont. Rev. Father D. Johnston officiated.

A gown of white nylon organza over tulle was chosen by the bride. A tulle cummerbund formed a large bow at the back waist. The bodice featured a scoop neckline and fly point sleeves and her elbow-length veil of illusion net was held in front by a small spray of organza flowers and leaves. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Attendants wore short, full-skirted dresses of turquoise organza over tulle and matching headpieces of turquoise net puffing from a single large rose on tone. They carried bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

Bride's sister, Mrs. N. Harrington was matron of honor while bridesmaid was Mrs. William Metz and the bridesmaid, Miss Barbara Hofner.

Best man, Const. Gary Nazar and ushers, Const. David Wilson and Const. Robert O'Connor echoed the groom's choice of red surge RCMP uniform.

Yellow chrysanthemums decorated the altar in the church. At a reception in Holyrood House the bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake flanked by yellow rosebuds and candles. Large baskets of yellow chrysanthemums decorated the hall. Dr. F. G. Stuart proposed the toast.

Mrs. William Metz, the bridesmaid, and her husband came from Calgary to attend the ceremony. Another out-of-town guest was Miss Nina Reikoff, Penticton.

Travelling to the interior of the province and then south on honeymoon, the bride wore a turquoise Italian knit suit with black accessories and corsage of white roses.

Upon return, the couple will make their home at 630 Head Street.

Davies-McDonald

A floor-length gown of white nylon sheer designed with a basque bodice featuring sheer sleeves and a scalloped sabrina neckline was chosen by Marion Heather McDonald for her recent marriage to Mr. John Vaughan Davies. Alencon lace highlighted with aquina enhanced the bodice and skirt. A tulip bow topped the elegant chapel train. Mistling from a dainty crown of seed pearls set with crystals in petal design was her illusion veil.

She carried a bouquet of red roses and white heather.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. S. McDonald, Glenford Avenue and Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Davies, Hollywood Crescent. Rev. G. H. Turpin officiated in Esquimalt First United Church.

The three bridesmaids wore identical white rayon sheath dresses with overskirts of white embroidered nylon. They carried blue carnations to match their blue flower headpieces.

Mr. Lorne Payne was best man and ushering guests were Mr. Peter Davies, the groom's brother, and Mr. Robert Noble.

At the reception Mr. R. Noble Sr., the bride's grandfather, proposed the toast.

Leaving on a honeymoon to Banff National Park, the bride changed in a blue double-knit suit with navy accessories and red roses on corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Davies will reside at 2129 Florence Street, Victoria.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Lyle and I have been married three years. We have a good marriage, except for one thing which bothers me something terrible.

Before Lyle met me he was engaged to a beautiful, sexy girl named Sherry. I'm not just taking his word for it, this is what I get from every body who knew her. They broke up over religious differences.

Almost every day Lyle manages to bring Sherry into the conversation in one way or another. If I buy a new dress he'll say, "Sherry had a dress that same color." If he sees an especially beautiful girl on TV he'll say, "She looks a lot like Sherry." When I order clams, he says, "Sherry could eat a dozen of those things."

I have ignored these references completely. He has no idea how the mention of her name starts me churning inside. It used to be annoying. Now it's maddening. What should I do? —GALLED.

Dear Galled: The one that got away always looks better —and I improve with age. Unfortunately some women (and men as well) allow themselves to be scared needlessly by old flames which flickered and died long ago.

Six Nigerians Enrol With 31 Cadets For Venture Plan

Six Nigerian naval cadets, here under the NATO Exchange Training Program, have been enrolled in the Royal Canadian Navy officer cadet training program which started its eighth year at HMCS Venture this week.

Fellow students will be 31 high school graduates from across Canada and one from South Africa.

The Venture plan is open to students with junior matriculation. Successful candidates join the navy for seven years and are enrolled at Venture for a two-year course.

HOME WENT TO SEA

The first year is a senior matriculation course. Halfway through the second year, some cadets are sent to sea for further training while others go to RCAF flying schools to become naval pilots.

Successful first-year cadets may transfer to the permanent force under terms of the Regular Officer Training Plan to continue at a Canadian service college or a university.

CHOKEN FROM 1,000

The Nigerian cadets were chosen from more than 1,000 applicants in their country. Following examinations in physics, mathematics, English, chemistry and general intelligence, they were given tests in endurance, initiative, leadership, debating and discussion groups.

Of the successful students, 23 were chosen for the Nigerian navy, 10 for the army, and 20 for the air force, just formed. There are four naval cadets training in India, 13 at Royal Naval College, Dartmouth, England. The army cadets are in Kingston, Ont., and the air force cadets are in Ethiopia.

English is the official language of this country of 45,000,000 people, which accounts for the fluency of the cadets. They also speak their native languages, which, in their case, are Yoruba, Tiv, Ibo, Hausa, Ijaw and Ukrika.

The cadets explained there are three main languages in Nigeria but more than 200 different tribal dialects. They may not understand each other completely in their native tongues but they can in English.

FOUR YEARS

All in their early 20s, the Nigerians plan to spend four years in Canada.

"People have been very nice," was their comment on their treatment since arriving in Esquimalt.

Expert Gives Advice

The trouble with a $1,500 pipe is that it doesn't taste any better than any other good pipe.

So says Pierre Comoy, of the House of Comoy, London, England. His is the fifth generation of a family that has been making pipes since 1873.

ON BEIJING TRIP

In town on his first visit to Canada, Mr. Comoy is along on a twice-yearly selling trip with the Canadian branch of the company. He has brought along a rare, not-for-sale briar pipe, which gets its uniqueness from its totally straight grain. This is the one with the $1,500 price tag.

"Although the straight grain does not improve the quality of the pipe," said Mr. Comoy, "the beauty and rarity of the grain appeals to pipe smokers."

The House of Comoy produces 150 pipe varieties. Mr. Comoy, the son of the company's president, has more than a dozen which he smokes regularly.

He smokes an occasional cigarette.

The company, which transforms a block of briar to a finished pipe in two days, employs nearly 300 people in its London factory.

BRIAR BEST

When it comes to the variety of woods which can be used to make pipes, nothing can touch briar, says Mr. Comoy. "During the war, when it was hard to get, we found maple was the next best. But it wasn't even a close second. There are very few pipes being made today that are not carved from briar."

World Rule Develops

Mankind has gone farther in the past 15 years towards developing world government than it has in all the rest of history, an expert on world hunger said in Victoria last night.

Dr. Howard Tressman, secretary of the Canadian Freedom from Hunger Committee, addressed a joint meeting of the Victoria United Nations Association and the local Council of Women.

"The United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization at Rome is doing the same things on an international scale the federal department of agriculture is doing throughout Canada."

Eighty-five per cent of the employees of the United Nations are engaged in work of an economic or social nature for the UN's specialized agencies such as the Food and Agricultural Organization and the World Health Organization.

Probably 95 per cent of money for UN work also went to specialized agencies.

The specialized agencies "are not the debating forum for the cold war. They have no security councils, no vetoes, no police forces, but they are working toward good government at the international level," he said.

Communist countries membership in the agencies tends to be hit-and-miss. For instance, only Poland and Yugoslavia belong to the Food and Agriculture Organization, he said.

Soraya Denies German Rites

Pollution Expert:

Lumbermen Joining Island Water Battle

The biggest threat to the purity of lakes and streams on the west coast of B.C. and Vancouver Island is the lumber industry, according to I. L. Withler, of the fish and game branch of the department of recreation and conservation.

Mr. Withler, speaking to the Victoria Natural History Society Tuesday night in the Douglas Building cafeteria, said the logging industry causes pollution in two ways.

"First," he said, "rain washes silt down bare, logged-off mountain sides into the streams. This buries fish eggs and food in the streams."

"Second," he said, "waste sawdust sinks to the stream bottoms and rots them with wood."

"This not only buries eggs and food, but also uses up valuable oxygen in the decomposition of the wood."

HAS DONE MUCH

Mr. Withler said his department has done much to rid the province of this situation by working with logging companies in the solution of their pollution problems.

"Where pollution once went unchecked, it now has become an offence to cause it," said Mr. Withler.

A-War 'Almost Certain'

Accidental nuclear war within a few years is almost certain because of the increasing dependence of apparatus controlling nuclear weapons, Dr. Brock Chisholm believes.

Dr. Chisholm, honorary president of the World Federalists of Canada, spoke at a meeting here of the Victoria and District branch of the Federalists.

He said: "It is madness to talk about fighting to preserve the freedom of West Berlin. West Berlin would be wiped out within two minutes of the outbreak of a nuclear war."

"Although for several years now the major powers have had the ability to wipe out the human race three or four times over, they are still spending billions of dollars a year in an effort to be in a position to wipe out everyone 10 times over," he said.

New Tye Leader Misses Big Prize

New leader in the tye division of The Daily Colonist King Fisherman contest is E. Newfield of Alberni with a 57-8-pounder from Nahmint caught on a Wonder spoon.

But Mr. Newfield is not a Colonist subscriber and only qualifies for the King Fisherman trophy. Leading subscriber is Burt Grainger, 961 LaVender Avenue, who caught a 55-pounder at Nahmint on a Rex Field plug. He is in line for the moving picture outfit donated by Colwood Pharmacy for subscriber with the biggest tye.

Jim Gilbert and his 21 friends had a good Nahmint trip again this year with 32 fish weighed in, 17 of them more than 30 pounds and biggest a 45-6-pounder by Dr. D. Robertson of Richmond.

Cuba Exiles Bombard U.K. Ship

MIAMI Fla. (AP)—A secret anti-Castro organization called Alpha 66 said Tuesday it made a hit-and-run attack on three freighters off Cuba's northern coast.

Members in Miami said five members of the group, which had headquarters in Puerto Rico, made the raid.

A communiqué signed "Alpha 66, Puerto Rico," and made available here, said "Cuban patriots" at dawn Monday attacked the Cuban vessels San Pascual and San Blas, and a British freighter.

NAVAL ATTACK

The operation was "a naval attack on Cape Frances, at the port of Calbarren," the communiqué said. It lasted 50 minutes, the information added.

"Helicopters of the Castro regime pursued the Cubans for 40 miles on the high seas, the chase culminating in a naval battle in which the Communists quickly withdrew," the communiqué added.

HAVANA (AP)—The Castro regime said Tuesday that a "pirate vessel" entered a harbor in north-central Cuba early Monday and pumped more than 60 shots into a British freighter and a Cuban ship. No casualties were reported.

Havana radio blamed the attack on "criminals armed and paid by the United States."

Havana radio charged the marauder came from the United States and suggested the firing on the British freighter—identified as the 7,000-ton Neptune—was designed to "begin the North American government's pressure on some countries to raise an economic blockade against Cuba."

The U.S. state department in Washington has asked its ambassadors in Western capitals to try to persuade NATO allies to keep their shipping away from Cuba.

British Pilot Captured By Russians

Election Machinery Ready in October

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's electoral machinery will be ready after Oct. 1 to run off another federal general election in the minimum possible time.

Chief Electoral Officer Nelson Castonguay will start next week to ship some 150 tons of supplies to returning officers across the country in the last stage of his office's preparedness program.

Oct. 1 has been set as the target date for completion of the shipment.

The first phase of election preparation was the revision by returning officers of the polling division arrangements for the 243 federal constituencies, which will be virtually completed by next weekend. The general order for this revision went out in early July, less than a month after the June 18 general election.

These are normal preparations by the chief electoral officer, who needs a minimum of 30 days to conduct a general election.

Spell Out the Alternatives, John D Told

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Britain is poised at midnight on her drive into Europe, but the Commonwealth family's tight defensive formation is crumbling in a desperate last-line stand. (See Page 3)

Pointed speeches by Canada, Pakistan, New Zealand, Australia and India, following a rapid succession on the second day of the conference of prime ministers, suggest that Britain's older nations are no reluctant as ever to see her cross the channel.

All are speaking circumspectly. The time is nigher but the case remains substantially the same.

In reviving the United Kingdom of Nations, statesmen about the European conference made three years ago by British ministers, Prime Minister De Gaulle may have used a technique as embarrassing as the more forthright criticisms expressed by Canadian spokesmen at the Commonwealth meeting in Ghana a year ago.

Whichever is unlikely to display much enthusiasm over the "alternatives" to British membership in the European Economic Community. It is understood the prime minister plans to keep these alternatives in a pigeonhole unless his Commonwealth colleagues insist that he produce them.

He keeps waving these alternative plans in the background, but with strings attached, one British source commented. "Why doesn't he put them on the table?" After all, he's had plenty of time.

In meetings with reporters, De Gaulle has declined to give the slightest clue to any new Canadian proposals. It is understood he may hold them in reserve for discussion by the Canadian Parliament after his return.

Before the Marlborough House talks opened, there was a disposition in some sophisticated circles to write the conference off as a sham fight with an inevitable outcome. Britain is halfway into Europe. It was argued, and nothing the Commonwealth countries may say will make any difference. Much of the opposition to British entry has come from Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Chicago Adventurer

Settler Aiming for North Faces Cold, Hard Facts

OTTAWA (CP)—A 31-year-old Chicago adventurer is going to be told that forming a settlement in the Canadian north will be no piece of cake.

Robert M. Van Schoick, a former florist, said in Chicago last week that he is assembling a party which will embark next spring on a pioneering venture in the Northwest Territories.

His plan is to establish a self-supporting community of from 20 to 50 persons in either the Mackenzie or Keewatin districts. He hopes that the group will be the nucleus of waves of settlers into the area.

Officials of the northern affairs and immigration departments here do not dismiss the plan, but wonder whether the author appreciates the hardships involved.

One official said the would-be settler has been asked to come to Ottawa to get "some cold hard facts about life in the Canadian north." He said the government wanted assurance that members of the party had the knowledge and equipment to cope with northern problems.

$85,000,000

Vast Expansion Cominco Plan

TRAIL (CP)—Plans for an $85,000,000 industrial expansion by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. Ltd. were disclosed at a National Energy Board hearing here Tuesday.

President R. G. Anderson of the West Kootenay Power and Light Company, a wholly-owned Cominco subsidiary, said he had been shown plans contemplating $85,000,000 in capital expenditure by the parent company in the six years 1963-68.

Mr. Anderson was speaking in favor of Cominco's application for a licence to engage in an exchange of power with the Bonneville Power Administration, major power producer and distributor in the U.S. Pacific Northwest.

DETAILS SKETCH

The $85,000,000 figure, he said, was exclusive of capital expenditure proposed for power plants and transmission lines.

Cominco seeks a 20-year licence to borrow power from BPA at times when the flow of the Pend d'Oreille River is insufficient for Cominco's generators at Waneta to operate at capacity. The company would return an equal amount of power to BPA at other times of the year.

KIMBERLEY PLAN

The firm's plan would be used to expand Cominco's iron, steel and fertilizer operations at Kimberley.

Mr. Anderson said the firm should also take into account Cominco's development of Pine Point, a major ore producer in the Northwest Territories, and a major zinc plant extension in Trail.

OTTAWA (CP)—Russian aircraft flying to and from Cuba over Canadian territory are being supplied with RCAF personnel to explain procedure and regulations, an RCAF spokesman said Tuesday night.

The spokesman said this is a usual courtesy supplied to countries who do not have any air agreements with Canada under the International Civil Aviation Organization. Russia is one. (See also Page 3)

In cases where Russian aircraft fly via Britain, and Newfoundland to Cuba, the Russian speaking RCAF personnel board the aircraft at Prestwick, Scotland. This is the final stop before the planes hit Canadian territory. The Canadians go all the way with the aircraft and return to Prestwick.

The spokesman said RCAF crews made one trip with a Russian plane in August and two in July. He said it was not known here what the aircraft carried.

AGASSIS, B.C. (CP)—A delegation of Sons of Freedom Doukhobors Tuesday visited relatives in nearby Mountain View and told them of the sect's march from the Kootenays.

Officials of the prison, where 67 Freedomites are serving 67 months for terrorist offences, said there was no noticeable reaction on the part of the prisoners when they learned of the march.

Unwanted in Grand Forks and shunned by Agassisi and Vancouver, the Freedomites were faced with legal action when authorities called on health officials to inspect sanitation facilities at the camp.

But Inspector Len Heibert said the three outhouses used by the 600 Freedomites were up to standard.

At Agassisi, about 300 miles west of here, municipal officials rebuffed a request from an advance party of Freedomites for land for the sect.

Ground Broken for $1,500,000 Christie Point Block

By JACK FRY

Ground has been broken for a $1,500,000 garden court apartment development at scenic Christie Point in Portage Inlet.

It will be one of the unique developments of its kind in western Canada.

About 15 men and nearly a dozen pieces of equipment were at work yesterday clearing, felling trees and blasting rock at building sites.

Up to 60 or 70 tradesmen, including sub-trades, will be on the job before the 161-suite apartment project is completed six months to a year from now.

Christie Point is a beautiful

fully-treed 15-acre peninsula which juts northward into Portage Inlet in the View Royal area.

Entrance is from the Old Island Highway near Admirals Road.

Strong opposition encountered from local groups—contending effluent from any development on the peninsula might cause further pollution of the inlet—was overcome when developers arranged to pump sewage into the nearby Esquimalt sewer system.

One of the former leaders of the opposition, View Royal Community Association chairman Lloyd Young, said yesterday: "As long as they make a good job of it we're quite happy."

Contractors said it will be a first-class development.

T. A. Pearce of Nanaimo, a partner in A and B Construction of that city told the Colonist his firm was awarded a contract amounting to nearly $1,500,000.

W. O. Syrett of Victoria, superintendent of the project, said nine two-story buildings will be placed at random along the peninsula and connected by a road running the entire length.

"We will leave as many trees as possible," he said, adding there will be a kidney-shaped outdoor, heated swimming pool.

All the buildings will have picture windows fronting on the water and all two or three-bedroom suites will have patios.

Some of the buildings will have pitched roofs, others flat roofs, said Mr. Syrett. The buildings will be finished partially in brick, siding and stucco to give a pleasing architectural tone to the overall appearance, he said.

How long it takes to complete the new development will depend largely upon weather conditions during the winter months. Workmen will start on one building and go to the next.

Local tradesmen will be employed wherever possible, said the superintendent.

Playland at Colwood Strongly Supported By Outlying Areas

Spokesmen for five small communities from View Royal to Metcheson yesterday threw their support behind a recent proposal of MLA Herbert Bruch for community development of the unused Colwood exhibition grounds.

Mr. Bruch said Saturday that View Royal, Colwood, Langford, Luxton and Metcheson could pool their Canadian centennial year grants toward construction of a giant recreational area for Greater Victoria.

WILL CALL MEETING

Stan Hiscock, manager of the Luxton Fair, said he will call a meeting of leaders from all these areas to consider the scheme, and he will invite Mr. Bruch to participate.

The Esquimalt M.L.A. said he would be "quite happy to help get the thing rolling."

Other community spokesmen from the outlying areas indicated strong support for the plan.

GREATER SUCCESS

Lloyd Young, chairman of the View Royal Community Association, said "I think we could work something out of that. It has wonderful possibilities. It would have more of a community spirit and be a greater success."

Andre Cottyn, president of the Colwood and District Chamber of Commerce, said the Colwood fair grounds is "an ideal spot" for this type of development, and "it's the only place big enough this side of the Malahat."

Tom Hardisty, chairman of the Langford recreation commission, said "We'd back them up on it but we need a meeting of the commission first to discuss it."

John Page, secretary of the Metcheson recreation commission, said "It's a good idea but we need the cooperation of the city and three municipalities."

City Wants Early Start

$650,000 Civic Plaza Bylaw May Go to Voters This Year

By IAN STREET

Prospect of a December civic election vote on a money bylaw to begin construction of the Centennial Square civic plaza early in 1963 is growing stronger every day.

Ald. A. W. Toone, chairman of the special committee charged with carrying out the $1,655,000, five-year project, said this week he personally favored a bylaw vote to speed the project on its way.

MAYOR IN FAVOR

Mayor R. B. Wilson and other members of city council have indicated they also favor an early start. This requires short-term borrowing of several hundred thousand dollars, to be repaid out of profits from sale of city-owned properties.

First indications from city finance chairman Ald. Arthur Dowell were that $500,000 would suffice; but an up-to-date review of money in the tax sale lands fund provided recently by city manager C. C. Wyatt shows likelihood that between $600,000 and $650,000 is required.

TOTAL OF $224,000

Mayor Wilson said yesterday the city manager's latest report shows cash in the tax sale lands fund now stands at $135,000 with an additional $89,000 in investments bringing the total to $224,000.

Agreements of sale will bring in another $100,000 over the next few years.

TOTAL INCOME

Civic officials have estimated that total income from sales of city-owned property over the next 10 years will top $200,000. When government grants are included the major share of the total cost of the project is expected to be covered.

Ald. Toone said while it is hoped the entire Centennial Square project can be financed over five years without additional direct taxation, this doesn't mean the local taxpayer won't provide most of the money.

CAPITAL FUNDS

"The bulk of the money will come out of the city's capital funds," he said.

To date funds, not included in the latest $224,000 total in the land sale coffers, have already been expended for purchase of some property on the civic plaza site and taking of options on others.

NEAR COMPLETION

Ald. Toone said in all but one or two cases negotiations were nearing completion, and his committee is hopeful there will be no need to resort to expropriation proceedings.

The committee has less than four weeks to make up its mind whether to recommend to council a bylaw vote should be put in city ratepayers Dec. 13.

FINAL DECISION

Ald. Toone said the final decision should be made by city council early in November to give the public time to fully consider all aspects of the issue before voting day.

Nanaimo Criticizes Job Regulations For Winter Works

NANAIMO — Winter works regulations, which prohibit anyone from participation in the program if they have worked at any continuing job since June 15, came under fire at a meeting of Nanaimo city council Monday.

Ald. Doug Greer and Jack Parker led the attack against the ruling, claiming it unfairly discriminated against men who had worked on subsistence level jobs since that time.

City council received several offers of support and assistance in dealing with the matter of the CPR curtailment-of-ferry service. Letters were read from the Port Alberni and District Chamber of Commerce and the Upper Island Highland Games Association on the subject.

Notification from the federal department of public works that construction of the projected boat basin has been delayed indefinitely, caused consternation among aldermen.

The city has spent over $3,000 putting in special water mains in the area.

A letter from the regional planning division, department of municipal affairs, advising the city it's application to rezone the north 14 acres of the former golf course was refused, triggered a lengthy discussion.

The property was required for a new city yard.

Ald. Doug Greer said he had sought permission to appear before the planning commission to state the city's case, and had been refused.

He had made a further effort to appear before the minister and was again refused. He remarked that city council, in similar circumstances, invariably permits such appearance by an applicant.

He suggested the city's application had been dealt with "from a position of prejudice."

Ald. Jack Parker said the site would have been developed largely as a park area.

Council granted a license to the B. and B. Sanitary Service to operate a cleaning and sterilizing service for garbage containers in the city.

The service is said to be unique.

Schools Bulging At Comox

COURTENAY—Bulging school enrollments have forced District 71 trustees to seek more emergency accommodation.

An unexpected increase in elementary pupils will require two more teachers and more temporary classrooms at Comox and Cumberland.

EXTRA ROOM

Comox will get an extra classroom in the activity hall and officials are looking for a church hall to ease pressures in Cumberland.

Other emergency measures already in effect since the beginning of the term include a church hall in Courtenay, temporary basement rooms and shifting of classes between schools.

PERSONNEL SHIFT

School Superintendent C. E. Ritchie said trustees unexpectedly increased in elementary pupils and a slight drop in secondary enrollments were due to shifting of personnel at BCAF Station Comox. Airman coming on station strength had more younger children than those posted out.

Tenders will be recalled early in October for a new Arden Road school, long delayed because previous bids far exceeded estimates.

CAPACITY REACHED

Secretary-treasurer C. N. Peterson said preliminary enrollments for the four-room Arden School already had reached five-room capacity. School boundaries will have to be changed or an extra Arden class kept in Courtenay.

The record registration also is causing problems with school buses. Mr. Peterson said bus schedules are being juggled but more buses may be required.

Cheating On Rug Claimed

An Oak Bay woman thinks she has been cheated on a rug, costing hundreds of dollars, which was delivered to her.

Victoria's new Better Business Bureau and Oak Bay licence inspector John Muir, both interested in the case, say they do not know details of the transaction.

But, they say, the woman in suits the rug which was delivered to her house did not match the sample she was shown when she ordered it.

FREE CATALOGUE

W. D. Tindall, managing director of the bureau, said apparently the woman recently answered an advertisement offering a free rug catalogue.

She was visited by a salesman who showed her samples and sold her the rug, which later arrived C.O.D.

Mr. Muir said the woman told him the rug cost hundreds of dollars.

GOT FOUR CALLS

Mr. Tindall said he received four phone calls from Nanaimo and View Royal about a salesman who offers two free books as premiums when the customer pays $25 for a five-year subscription to a magazine.

A five-year subscription through regular channels costs $15 he said. But the books are likely worth the $17 difference, he said.

Bond Conversion

Letters Flood Bennett

By TERRY HAMMOND

An astonished Premier Bennett told the Colonist yesterday the finance department has had to employ extra staff to handle a flood of parity bond conversion applications from B.C. investors.

The government offered to exchange current 5½ per cent parity bonds for PGE 5½ per cent parities redeemable Sept. 15 in order to meet the demands of investors who failed to convert before the most recent over-subscribed issue was taken off the market Aug. 23.

WHITE DIEM

Investors who wanted to convert were urged in government advertisements to write direct to B.C.'s deputy finance minister C. S. Brown.

"I've got hundreds of letters—not a few letters—hundreds of letters," said an incredulous premier.

"I've had to get extra staff to handle them."

He said in spite of the flood of requests "we hope to be able to look after them."

"I had no idea so many people had failed to convert."

The government is anxious to meet the requests because, said the premier, "these are people who had that great confidence at the very beginning."

The bonds maturing Sept. 15 were the original B.C. parity issue of three years ago.

"There was a lot of skepticism—in the Financial Post and all over the world. They said it couldn't be done," Mr. Bennett recalled.

GRAND FORKS, B.C. (CP)—Unwanted and almost penniless, migrating Sons of Freedom Doukhobors threatened to go on a hunger strike Tuesday.

The Doukhobors are running out of money because they haven't received their September social welfare cheques.

"If it keeps up I guess we'll have to go on a hunger strike," said Big Fanny Storgoff, organizer of the sect's plan to settle near a Freedomite prison in the Fraser Valley.

Welfare officials at Victoria said their cheques are being withheld because they are on the move.

UP TO STANDARD

Unwanted in Grand Forks and shunned by Agassiz and Vancouver, the Freedomites were issued with legal action when authorities called on health officials to inspect sanitation facilities at the camp.

But inspector Len Heibert said the three outhouses used by the 400 Freedomites were up to standard.

At Agassiz, about 300 miles west of here, municipal officials rebuffed a request from an advance party of Freedomites for land for the sect.

To Visit Here

First Sea Lord, Admiral Sir Casper John, GCB, will visit Royal Canadian Navy installations at Esquimalt sometime between Oct. 2 and 13. He is coming to Canada on invitation of Chief of Naval Staff, Vice-Admiral H. S. Rayner, and will be accompanied by his wife and Capt. D. Williams, Royal Navy.

32 British Unions Demand Election

LONDON (Reuters)—The general election on the Common Market issue.

The unions ranged from the National Union of Mineworkers, with 588,361 members, to the 1,100-member Scottish House Turners and Paviors Association. The statement said it was clear that the terms of entry for Britain into the Common Market would involve "considerable changes in the economic and political organization of the country."

'Red' Wine Arrives

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five crates of Russian wine—apparently a gift to President Kennedy from Premier Khrushchev—arrived at Friendship International Airport Tuesday night aboard a British Overseas Airways plane.

Spell Out Alternatives, John D Told

Britain is poised at midnight on her drive into Europe, but the Commonwealth family's tight defensive formation here—shoulders a desperate gambit stand. (See Page 5.)

Pointed speeches by Canada, Pakistan, New Zealand, Australia and India, following in rapid succession in the second day of the conference of prime ministers, suggest that Britain's enter nations are as reluctant as ever to see her cross the channel.

All are speaking circumspectly. The tone is colder but the case remains substantially the same.

In reminding the United Kingdom of laborious statements about the European state-union made three years ago by British ministers, Prime Minister Disraeli may have used a technique as embarrassing as the above forthright criticisms expressed by Canadian spokesmen at the Commonwealth meeting in Ottawa a year ago.

Whitcomb is unlikely to display much enthusiasm over Disraeli's vague references about alternatives to British membership in the European Economic Community. It is understood the prime minister plans to keep these alternatives in a pigeonhole unless his Commonwealth colleagues insist that he produce them.

He keeps waving these alternative plans in the background, but with strings attached, one British source commented. "Why doesn't he put them on the table? After all, he's had plenty of time."

In meetings with reporters, Disraeli has declined to give the slightest hint as to any new Canadian proposals. It is understood he may hold them in reserve for discussion by the Canadian Parliament after his return.

Before the Marlborough House talks opened, there was a disposition in some sophisticated circles to write the conference off as a sham fight with an inevitable conclusion: Britain is heading into Europe, it was argued, and nothing the Commonwealth countries may say will make any difference. Much of the opposition to British entry has come from Canada, Australia and New Zealand.
